Bruno Train Tragedy Seen By Hundreds

Hundreds of rush hour commuters stared in fixed horror late Friday as the mother of four young children was struck and killed by a fast-moving Southern Pacific train while scrambling to rescue her children from a stalled car at a San Bruno grade crossing.

S.S.F. Sign Law to Be Enforced

South San Francisco councilmen adopted a "resolution of intent" to enforce the city's sign ordinance Monday night at the request of City Planner Daniel Pass.

Pass recommended the resolution be adopted in order to assure state participation in landscaping the city's freeways.

The division of highways requested the resolution as a prerequisite to committing state funds for landscaping projects on freeways through the city.

In other business Monday, councilmen adopted a resolution contracting with the state on construction of the pedestrian overcrossing at Junipero Serra and Clay Avenue.

The city and state will split the $75,000 cost of the project equally.

Councilmen also voted to accept a contribution of $7,000 toward the project from the South San Francisco Unified School District.

A six-month extension for completion of a fire alarm system in Westborough Subdivision units 1-C and 2 was granted, and a hearing was set for April 3 on a planning commission decision appeal from Lucky Stores, Inc.

Planning commissioners turned down a permit request for a sign on the rear wall of the company's store in the city's commercial district last month.

Split seconds before all four of Mrs. Mary Louise Navarro's children, along with a 13-year-old relative, had been pulled from the car by San Bruno traffic officer William Martin.

A disbelieving gasp went up from the more than 400 persons watching the drama unfolding before their eyes as Mrs. Navarro herded the older children to safety and then ran back to the car as the train bore down.

With a loud crash the Southern Pacific commuter rumbled into the vehicle, sending a ball of flame high into the air and dragging the 29-year-old mother 300 yards down the right-of-way, killing her instantly.

Investigators said Mrs. Navarro, of 203 Carmelo Lane, South San Francisco, apparently did not know officer Martin had already rescued her four-year-old daughter, Theresa, and she ran back to the ill-fated car to save her.

Martin said he noticed the small child strapped into a "kiddy chair" on the front seat, plucked Theresa from the car and fell on top of her as the train roared past.

As the train smashed into the car, flames from a ruptured fuel tank enveloped the train and sections of both sides of the track. Fire department units quickly extinguished the blaze.

Mrs. Navarro's body was recovered pinned to the front of the locomotive some distance from the point of impact.

Officer Martin said Mrs. Navarro's car started across the tracks about 5:30 p.m., but was halted by other cars stopped in front waiting for a signal light to change.

Shortly after, the crossing signal began to ring and the gates came down. Cars in front blocked forward movement.

Mrs. Navarro attempted to back the car up, hit the closed gate and stalled the motor. She screamed orders at the children.

Coastal Freeway Crash Kills Four

Four persons died last week from injuries received in a grinding two-car collision on the Edgemoor Freeway in Pacifica.

Killed instantly in the Tuesday night wreck were the drivers of both vehicles, Leo Peter Day, 52, a retired Army officer from Pacifica, and Charles Edward Hotaling, 27, of Corte Madera, assistant manager of a Wells Fargo branch bank in San Francisco.

Forrest L. Hersline, 53, of Manassas Park, Va., died three hours after the wreck at Mary's Help Hospital, and his wife, Mrs. Delores Hersline, died Thursday. The Herslines were passengers in Day's car, and are believed to have been visiting in his home. Day's wife, Elaine, who was also a passenger in the car, is reported recovering from multiple injuries and in satisfactory condition at Mary's Help Hospital.

Another car crashed into the wreckage of the original collision moments after it occurred, and two young Pacifica men, Lance Sherwood Spitzer, 19, of 300 Paloma Drive, and Keith August Tobler, 22, of 268 Piedmont Avenue, received minor injuries.

California Highway Patrolmen said one of the vehicles appeared to have been traveling the wrong way on the divided freeway.

LANDSCAPING ON PACIFICA'S segment of the coastal Cabrillo Freeway is nearing completion. Trees and shrubs already have been planted, with thousands of individual ice plants now being put into the ground. Here, two of the landscape workers continue the project.

Urban Development Man Tours Downtown Bruno

A representative of the Department of Housing and Urban Development inspected the downtown area of San Bruno Tuesday to determine whether the city qualifies for an urban redevelopment grant.

John Buddeke, acting renewal area coordinator for the department, toured the area with City Mgr. Gerard S. Veeger and Chamber of Commerce Director Dick King.

Certification of eligibility under the redevelopment act is necessary to obtain federal assistance for urban renewal projects such as the proposed San Bruno downtown mall.

King said Buddeke will report on his findings "within a few weeks," and if the city qualifies an application for funds will be submitted as soon as redevelopment plans are completed.

Several other factors, including availability of funds, are involved in obtaining federal grants for such projects, King said.

To qualify under the urban redevelopment act, at least 20 percent of an area must be classified as "blighted."

South San Francisco Mayor Frank Bertucci ordered a study on a proposed three-way intersection in the city Monday night at the request of a Westborough resident who warned of "another Junipero Serra-Clay Avenue-type tragedy."

Mrs. Robert Bergero, 36 Escondido Drive, pointed out in a letter to the mayor and council that preliminary plans for the intersection of Orange Avenue, Camaritis, and the planned Westborough Boulevard extension contain no provision for a pedestrian overpass.

"The number of children crossing at the Clay Avenue-Junipero Serra intersection is small compared to the number who will use this crossing," the letter states.

The proposed intersection is near the new South San Francisco Library, a parochial elementary school and a boys' club.

Public Works Director Louis Goss said it is true preliminary plans for the intersection do not include a pedestrian overpass.

"These plans are incomplete, but it is my understanding they call for the same type of signal system currently in effect at

Bandit Kidnaps, Robs Manager

A South San Francisco drive-in restaurant manager was kidnapped at gunpoint early Monday and was robbed of more than $1,000 as he was en route to a local bank with the company's receipts.

Robert Ely, night manager for McDonald's drive-in restaurant, 435 El Camino Real, told police he was climbing into his car shortly after 2 a.m. with the bank deposit when the gunman reared up from the back seat and shoved a pistol against his head.

The man ordered Ely to turn off the radio "because you can't hear me" and also to keep driving around the area.

"I don't want to hurt you... don't try anything funny," the gunman warned his victim, brandishing a chrome-plated pistol.

After driving around the immediate area of McDonald's, the gunman made Ely stop the car, get in the rear seat and lie face down on the floor.

The gunman then took over driving Ely's car, stopping several minutes later in the St. Veronica School yard several miles from the restaurant.

The gunman ordered his victim to remain on the floor "for several minutes," police said.

Ely said he heard another car leaving the area. He climbed out of the car and called the police from a telephone in the neighborhood.

Darkness and the fact that he was made to lie face down on the floor of the car, prevented

Ely from getting a good look at the gunman, police said.

Police said Ely described the gunman as six feet tall and weighing some 200 pounds.

D.C. 'Marathon'

More Than 40 Council Items

A record-long agenda is expected to be brought before the Daly City Council at their regular meeting next Monday.

Many of the "rough spots" centering around several of the more than 40 items to be discussed were ironed out during a marathon study session last Monday.

Mayor Bernard "Bud" Lyckett said the lengthy agenda was due in part to continued tabling of various matters for further study by city staff and council members.

He suggested these items be brought up, discussed and settled in order to clear them up.

One of the longest discussions during the Monday night study session: where to locate a new park in the Serramonte housing development.

Two undeveloped sites were recommended by two differing factions within the city staff.

One side wanted a 1.97-acre park bounded by Shipley, Gellert, Warrick and Margate drives (all proposed street names) while other members of the staff thought a similar chunk of property bounded by Verducci, Victoria and Gellert drives would be more suitable.

Each side expressed reasons for wanting the park in their respective location.

The park sites are within three blocks of each other, however surrounding terrain differs greatly.

One park site has an "elevated" location with steep upslopes, while the other is located son, and also received commendations and awards from the city and county government.

S. S. F. Chambermen Urged To 'Solve Own Problems'

Middle Of Road Does Not Work

A San Francisco Chamber of Commerce official last week urged South San Francisco businessmen to solve for themselves "the type of problems now being referred to such organizations as the Association of Bay Area Governments."

William E. Dauer, vice president of the San Francisco chamber, urged the merchants and industrial leaders through their chamber of commerce, to take an active part in reducing the role of big government and solving community problems locally.

"Many businesses are content to be bystanders, to sit back and play the safe middle road. Chambers of commerce have demonstrated that collectively they can solve problems by meeting them head-on," he said.

Dauer was guest speaker at the South San Francisco C of C's annual installation banquet Tuesday.

William Borba Sr. was installed for a second term as chamber president at the banquet, and a number of awards were presented to members for service during the past year.

Contractor Arthur "Buzz" Haskins was presented a special award and a large plaque after being named "Man of the Year in Industry" in the city.

Judy Ambler, "Miss South San Francisco," made the presentation after reading an official chamber statement commending Haskins for his "many fine services to the community."

Haskins has contributed funds and services to the Police Athletic League, Boy Scouts, 4-H Clubs and other youth service organizations in the city for the past several years.

Mayor Frank Bertucci awarded plaques to several key chamber members who worked on the Sign Hill painting project last year.

Receiving the plaques were Bob Shreve, John Morgan, Bob Barker Jim Grider, Reno Donati and Walt McRae.

Grider also accepted an award in behalf of the South San Francisco Elks Club for the organization's "outstanding participation in civic projects."

Others receiving awards were committee chairmen Gordon

The T-N P-TA usually meets on the third Thursday, but to give district residents in that area an opportunity to see the board in action, switched its meeting night for this month only.

Other matters discussed during the session included:

—Creation of a Fire Zone One in the city. This would designate both Serramonte and Westlake shopping centers within the new fire zone, complying with recommendations of the American Insurance Association (formerly the National Board of Fire Underwriters).

—Construction of a bus stop at Mary's Help Hospital. Cost of the structure was not expected to exceed $500 and will likely be done by members of the city staff.

City Mgr. Edward Frank said the signal costs county taxpayers some $70 a month to operate. Daly City's share amounts to approximately $14 monthly.

—Members were informed by Planner Ed Lawson the Planning Commission would meet monthly instead of every two weeks.

—Granting of a use permit for a nursery school and day care center at 205 San Fernando Way. The school would be sponsored by the Calvary Cross Community Church and is located in an R-1 (residential) area.

4 El Camino Musicians Join State Honor Band

Four El Camino High School students were accepted recently as members of the 1967 California State honor band. This honor, awarded to 200 of the state's finest young musicians was earned last month in competition against hundreds of applicants by taped audition.

A total of six students per participating school are allowed to apply for audition and it is rare for a school to have more than two of its applicants accepted. The four El Camino students are Claudia Backman, French horn; Ron Jaramanillo, clarinet; Jim Aron, trumpet; and Bill Bridges, percussion.

This year's honor band will meet in Upland, March 17, 18 and 19 under the baton of Frederic Fennel, famous conductor of the Eastman Wind Ensemble. The festivities will end Sunday afternoon with a two-hour concert.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Marr of South San Francisco will accompany the musicians to Upland.

Junipero Serra and Clay," Goss said.

This system was installed at the Junipero Serra-Clay Avenue crossing about three years ago after two children were struck and killed by automobiles. The city and state recently decided to replace the signals with an overpass after a third child, 6-year-old Linda Reid, was killed last October.

The signal system requires that pedestrians press a button to activate a "walk" light.

Goss pointed out Monday night that the Westborough Boulevard extension will be 90-feet wide at the intersection, and pedestrians "very likely" would have to wait in the neutral ground between lanes for a second change of lights in order to complete a crossing.

to "get out of the car" as she jumped out and pushed four of the children to safety with the aid of officer Martin.

Martin dashed back to the car and rescued Theresa, as he saw Mrs. Navarro stumble back to the car.

Commuters jumped from the packed train as it ground to a stop several hundred yards from the accident scene. Many thought the train was on fire because of smoke boiling up from overheated brakes and the ruptured fuel tanks on the car.

Westmoor Loses Three-Way Meet

Westmoor's track team had its hopes dashed for another undefeated season, when they dropped their opener, a triangular meet to Carlmont and Balboa March 1, on the Ram oval.

The Scots won the varsity meet with 66 points, followed by Balboa, 45 and Westmoor, 41.

Westmoor is looking forward to testing its depth Friday at 3 p.m., when the South Francisco High Warriors host the NPL Relays.

Outstanding performer of the meet was Carlmont junior Jim Pinrose. Pinrose led off the meet by topping the field in the shot put with a meet record of 52 feet, four inches. He then came back in the discus to make it a double win by setting a meet and school record with a throw of 174 feet on inch.

Chris Carey a sophomore from Carlmont won the two-mile run in a race that saw four men break 10 minutes. Carey set a meet record in the process with a fast 1:41.0 effort. Scot Ron White took the mile run in meet record time of 4:32.4. Carlmont's Joe White and Westmoor's Chuck Johnston tied for the only other meet record in the pole vault at 12 feet-six inches, with White getting the victory on fewer misses.

Ram Pat Munday nipped teammate Narvis Thompson at the wire in the 100-yard dash with a time of 10.5. Sophomore Mike Clabby was the Ram's only other varsity winner as he took the 180 low hurdles in 21.5.

Balboa's Watkins was a double winner as he raced to victories in the 220-yard dash in 23.1 and the 440-yard dash in 51.8. Watkins also anchored the winning Blue relay.

Westmoor's "B" set seven dual meet records en route to their victory. The Rams scored 67½ points to Balboa's 48½ and Carlmont's 32. Frank DiStefano accounted for records in the 100 (10.6) and 220 (24.2) as well as anchoring the relay to a 1:38.9.

Other Rams setting records were Kim Clark, 918 in the 70-yard high hurdles, Don Clackfield, 2:09.9 in the 880-yard run, and Mike Milon in the mile run with 4:56.5.

Richard Brown set a dual meet record in the long jump at 20 feet, 3 inches but took second in the triangular meet scoring to Balboa's Magalit who leaped 21 feet one-half inch.

Despite an outstanding effort by Freshman Vic Davis, the Ram "CS" were narrowly edged by the Buccaneer lightweights, 48-45. Carlmont tallied 15 points.

Davis sped to victories in the 100 in 1.09 and the 220 in 24.4, as well as leaping to victory in the high jump at 5 feet. Balboa's victory was led by Coleman, who was a double winner in the 180 low hurdles and the long jump.

Senior quarterback Mickey Beard of Newton, Mass., set a Dartmouth record last fall by passing for 13 touchdowns.

Westmoor Loses In 1st Meet

Westmoor High School's track team had its hopes for another undefeated season dashed last week when the Rams finished last in a three-way meet with Carlmont and Balboa on their home oval.

The Scots won the varsity meet with 66 points, followed by Balboa, 45, and Westmoor, 41.

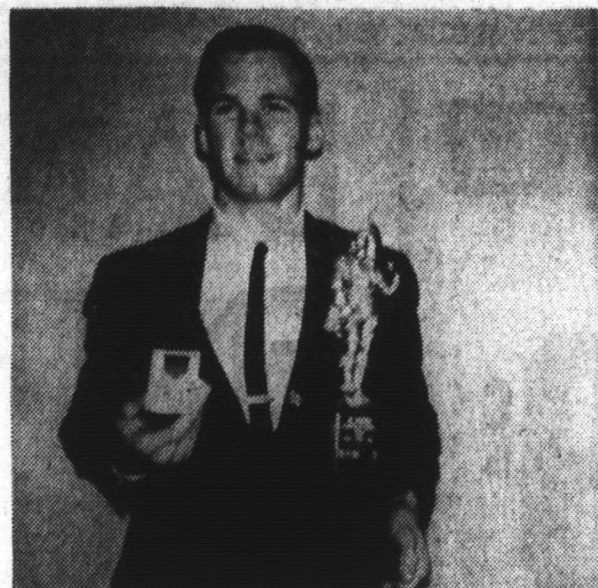

Carlmont's Jim Pinrose, a junior, took top honors at the meet, setting new records in both the shot-put and discus throw. His shot-put heave of 52 feet, 4 inches, was a meet record, and his discus throw of 174 feet, 1 inch, set both a meet and school record.

Westmoor's Pat Munday took the 100-yard dash with a 10.5 time, and Mike Clabby was the Rams' only other varsity winner with a 180-yard low hurdles time of 21.5.

The Rams' "B" team took a meet victory with 67½ points, and the "C's" were narrowly edged by Balboa's lightweights, 48-45.

The Rams' next track action will take place Friday when they compete in the North Peninsula League Relays at South San Francisco High School.

Friday's meet begins at 3 p.m.

DALY CITY FENCER Tim Tweedie won the Northern California Intercollegiate Fencing championship last month at Berkeley. He won the novice title last year. The trophy, engraved with his name, will be displayed at San Francisco State College.

Rams Down Washington In Tennis

After defeating the Buccaneers of Balboa, seven to one, the Westmoor High tennis team awaits its game against top-ranked Washington High School tomorrow.

Aragon High Wins Finale, Falcons Out

All work at competitive play left the Aragon High School basketball team anything but dull boys night in their Mid Peninsula League finale against the Crestmoor Falcons.

Aragon worked hard from start to finish en route to a 73-65 home court triumph over the San Bruno aggregation, thereby ending the season with an 8-4 league record and tie for third place in the final standings.

"We had to work hard," Aragon's Coach Eddie Diaz said after the game, in which one of his cagers' successful chores was fouling Crestmoor's Larry Grant out of the contest before the third quarter.

Orlich's Spoilers

Le Pacini

WHEN MIKE ORLICH'S spoiler Jefferson Indians upset Terra Nova last week to knock the coast school out of NPL basketball championship contention with South City in TN's last game of the season, we figured that not only had the Tigers lost a championship, but that they had also blown a column for us.

We had been primed to write the rags-to-riches saga of a gang of kids traveling from obscurity to fame with a new coach, and then came close to dumping the project when Cinderella stuck her glass slipper in our mouth.

Upon reflection, though, we see no real reason why the column still can't be written, because while four points, the difference between Jeff and Terra Nova in that fateful game, separated the champs from the also-rans in the books, they didn't in that vital human function known as spirit.

BEING AS CLOSE as they got, was still an accomplishment, not only for the Terra Nova players and their coach, Don Delbon, but for their school vice principal, as well. Ordinarily vice principals don't have too much to do with winning basketball teams except in rooting terms. In this case, however, the vice principal not only rooted like crazy, but was also the coach until this year. His name is Rich Burt and he lived and died with the team every minute that Delbon did.

For Burt, this team was to have been the fruition of a story he began in the Terra Nova gym on Saturdays in 1960, when he gathered together fifth and sixth graders, like Jimmy Bresnahan, the NPL's leading scorer this year, in order to build a basketball program for the brand new school that was so lacking in Pacifica's elementary grades and recreational program that many of the kids didn't even know how to dribble the ball more than twice consecutively, without bouncing it off their own toes.

So this was, to an extent, Burt's team, which is an even greater tribute to Delbon's ability as a basketball coach. He had to transcend the old loyalties, prove himself as much to the players, as they would have to prove themselves to him. Burt had been one of the most popular teachers and coaches in the school, and when he "quit" to become vice principal last fall, some of the players were so hurt, they called him "traitor," not maliciously, but only in the way children do when a hero does something they hadn't counted on.

"They told me I spoke with a forked tongue," chuckles Burt. "They figured I had betrayed them, because here I had been telling them for all these years that basketball is the greatest, and then I'm suddenly working in the office, as far away from the gym as I could be. But actually, I was flattered, even proud of that moniker, 'traitor,' because it proved to me that I had really instilled in them the devotion to and respect for basketball that I had always strived for."

BURT'S DECISION to apply for the job vacancy created when Floyd Gonella (ex-football coach who had several years before been involved in the same dilemma Burt was to face) became principal of Thornton High was a difficult one. He had been connected with athletics for 25 years, had been a professional baseball player, and a high school coach for nine years.

He had come to Terra Nova's barren basketball program from little St. Vincent's in Vallejo (where he had had a team ranked in the top 30 in Northern California) and just after he had turned down a position coaching a team which had the year before been ranked third in Northern California.

"I chose Terra Nova because I felt that at the other school there wasn't much room for improvement with a three rating, but that here there was nowhere to go but up. It was a chance to inculcate my own philosophy and techniques from the ground floor, to grow with the job. It was a challenge, just as becoming a vice principal."

"Really, life is competition, just one big contest, a game. A man must continually test himself if he's to remain a vital human being. I don't really look on school administration as too much different than coaching. I'm still working with kids and trying to solve many parallel and analogous problems. The only real difference is," and Burt grins at this juncture (his job is chiefly handling Terra Nova discipline) "that I have more team members."

Quitting coaching was made doubly tough for Burt when his 10-year-old son, Brian, who had just begun playing competitive sports and had never known his father as anything other than a coach, was broken-hearted when he suddenly realized — after the initial flush or pride over his daddy's promotion — that it also meant he would no longer have a team.

"He cried his eyes out," says Burt, "and I felt as if I had betrayed him, too. He had loved playing around with the team, during practices, watching the games, being in the clubhouse with the players."

Burt managed to get through his first season not coaching — "the toughest one" — because Delbon happens to be such an understanding man.

"Most Coaches would probably have popped me in the nose for hanging around, and if positions were reversed I'm not sure I would have been as generous, but Don understood. He let me talk to the kids, get my two cents in occasionally."

While Burt thoroughly enjoys the challenge of administrative work, he doesn't begrudge one minute he ever spent in coaching.

"It's been rewarding being a coach at Terra Nova. I've never known a Terra Nova team — football, baseball, any of them — to quit, and God knows some of them would probably have been justified with some of the beatings they took."

"Terra Nova athletes have a lot of heart, a lot of desire, and I'd rather have coached them than all the third place teams in Northern California."

As for Delbon, one feels that if he ever quit to be a full-time administrator (he's already a part-time one, handling attendance and student body activities) that his team would call him "traitor" too.

He pretty well summed up his coaching philosophy the day before the Jeff game when he said, "Wouldn't it be great if they could pull it off?"

He said THEY, not HIM, Delbon.

Cap Wins MPL Title

Brunans Breeze By Mills

By Craig Beckheyer Post Sports Writer

As predicted and expected by virtually every observer insight, Coach Jim Johnson basketballing Capuchino Mustangs reign today undisputed champions of the Mid-Peninsula League.

The 'Tangs made it official last Friday on their own court by breezing past Mills High 81-67 for their tenth victory of the year against two defeats and a season ending one game margin over second place Hillsdale (9-3).

Thus for the first time since 1961, the Steeds will represent the MPL in the post-season Peninsula Basketball Tournament at Stanford. The last time Johnson took his troops into the PBT they won the whole shooting match and they'll have a secret weapon to help them in this year's venture as well.

Tom Wuerthner, a 6'-4" 200-pound former Serra High forward will be available to the San Bruno School in the Palo Alto Classic.

Wuerthner, who has been working out with the team, has completed the 90-day eligibility ruling and could have played against both San Mateo and Mills but was held out by Johnson. He can play both forward and center and could prove to be a big asset to the Steeds in the showdown games to come.

Cap had very little trouble putting the icing on their championship cake last night. With Sal DeLuca (21) and Roger Carmine (17) providing the scoring punch the Herd jumped to a 6-0 lead in the first two and a half minutes and were never in serious trouble for the rest of the evening.

Jim Kauffman, in foul trouble early in the game, sat out most of the fray and ended up with a season low of five points for the night. In typical Kauffman style, however, Jim tallied four of those points late in the fourth period when Mills made a mild run at the Cap reserves and had closed to within nine points at 73-64 with two minutes left.

Kauffman entered the game carrying four fouls and promptly hit a jumper from the left side and followed with two free throws to take the starch out of the Viking drive.

Johnson used his bench freely, putting nine men in the scoring column with Owen McCumber joining DeLuca and Carmine in double digits with ten counters. Mills used their starters until deep in the second half and then also went to the bench to use ten scorers. Fred Meltz and Dan Scanlan were high point men for the losers with 17 points each.

In addition to dominating the boards, Capuchino outshot the Vikes from the floor in hitting on better than 50 per cent with 31 for 60. Mills had a close 46 per cent of 49 but were clobbered in the rebound department to make the difference in spite of a 23-19 Norse advantage in converted free throws.

In the preliminary Frosh-Soph game George Gladus with 18 points and Mat Kristlein with 21 lead Capuchino's Colts to a 58-38 victory over the invaders.

Tunaless Salad?

Nell Norton

Last week's column started off with a mystery recipe, a tunaless tuna salad.

How does one go about making a tuna salad without tuna?

Solution — add one can of tuna, drained and broken into bite-size pieces.

THIS WEEK I'm going to concentrate on desserts, a favorite form of concentration for me, and the specific dessert will be pie. And an important part of the pie is the pie crust.

Last week's column ended with the best recipe I've found for an easy and foolproof crust. I'm going to repeat it here for you may have lost the column, and what is the use of giving you a pie filling recipe without a crust recipe?

PERFECTLY EASY PIE CRUST

1½ cups of sifted flour
½ cup shortening
1 teaspoon salt
2 to 3 tablespoons water

Sift the one and one-half cups of flour and one teaspoon of salt into a bowl. Cut in the one-half cup of shortening. Sprinkle with two to three tablespoons water. Place on wax paper. Knead three times. Press into a ball. Let stand at room temperature for 15 to 20 minutes. Roll out between wax paper.

NOW, I'm well aware that you are all good cooks, but I know there are also some "new" good cooks among you. So for any of you who are just beginning to cook and possibly haven't tried a homemade pie before, I'll be a little more specific in my directions for making and baking a pie crust.

When we speak of cutting in the shortening, this means to work the shortening into the flour. A pastry blender is one of the best utensils to use for this purpose.

However, you can use two knives and cut the shortening in quite well. Distribute the shortening evenly through the flour, being sure not to neglect that at the bottom of the bowl. Cut it until the shortening is about the size of small peas. These particles roll out and melt into crisp flakes.

When adding the water be sure to sprinkle it over the flour mixture while tossing it with a fork. You want to distribute the water evenly so that no one part will get too wet, which would make it tough when baked.

Now to roll out the pastry: Roll from the center out, keeping pastry in as circular shape as possible and an even thickness throughout. Roll about one-eighth-inch thick for lower crust, top crust slightly thinner.

In making a shell in which you will place a cooked filling, be sure to roll the crust larger than the pan, so there will be no stretching to fit. Trim the edges evenly, leaving a one-inch overhanging border, fold dough under and back to make an upright rim, then flute the edges. Prick crust thoroughly with a fork. Bake in hot oven, 450-degrees, about 15 minutes or until delicately browned. Keep an eye on it, so that it just browns, not burns.

NOW WHAT?—We know all about making a perfect crust, here's a delicious filling for it. Lemon pie, it's tart goodness finishes off dinner perfectly and it's attractive appearance is a treat to the eye.

ALL-AMERICAN LEMON PIE

1 9-inch pie shell, baked
7 tablespoons cornstarch
1½ cups sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1½ cups hot water
3 egg yolks
½ cup fresh lemon juice
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Mix the seven tablespoons cornstarch, one and one-half cups of sugar and one-half teaspoon salt in a saucepan. Stir in the one and one-half cups of hot water gradually and bring to boil over direct heat, stirring constantly until thick and clear. Remove from heat. Stir several spoonfuls of the hot mixture into the three beaten egg yolks. Mix well. Pour the yolks back into the saucepan. Bring to a boil, then cook over low heat for four to five minutes, stirring all the while.

REMOVE FROM HEAT. Gradually add the half cup of lemon juice, one teaspoon lemon peel and two tablespoons butter. Stir and cool. Beat the filling well and pour into cooled pie crust and top with meringue.

THE MERINGUE takes about 15 to 20 minutes, in a 350-degree oven to take on a golden-brown color. Cool before serving.

MERINGUE

3 egg whites
6 tablespoons sugar
dash of salt

Beat the three egg whites until stiff, add sugar gradually and continue beating until mixture is fine grained and holds its shape. Add the salt.

To avoid shrinking of the meringue during the browning period, start spreading the meringue from the edge of pie toward center. Attach securely to crust to prevent shrinking from crust and insulate the filling during baking.

LEST YOU should wonder at the amount of cornstarch, lemon pie calls for more because of the action of the acid in the lemons.

A recurring question among pie makers is this, "Why does a filling weep and become watery?"

If the starch is not thoroughly cooked, if the filling is cooled too fast or put into a hot crust, then a layer of liquid may form on the top of the filling. Be sure to cool the filling; beat it well, that makes it fluffy, and pour into a cooled crust.

'LSD, Marijuana: What's Happening' Pacific Heights

"LSD and Marijuana: What's Happening?" will be the question posed to the four-man panel that will be present at the Pacific Heights Association's general meeting, March 15, at 7:30 p.m. in the Pacific Heights school's Trojan Hall, Chilton Lane and Pacific Heights Boulevard, San Bruno.

The panelists and their individual topics will be the Reverend Clyde Dodder, "Drugs: the ethical-religious point of view"; Dr. David Schwartz, "Drug use in San Mateo County"; Detective Edward Gilmore, "Drugs: the law enforcement standpoint"; and Jeff Berner, "Drugs from a personal and student viewpoint."

Reverend Dodder is minister of the Skyline church in South San Francisco. He formerly served at the Bread and Wine Mission in North Beach, a project which attempted to carry on a dialogue between churchmen and artists.

He is also the author of three books — the latest in collaboration with his wife, Barbara, on "Ethics".

Dr. Schwartz, of San Mateo, is a child psychiatrist for age five through adolescence. He is acting chief of psychiatry for the Mental Health unit at Hillcrest Juvenile Hall in San Mateo County.

He served with the San Mateo County probation department in recent investigations of drug referrals to that department.

Detective Gilmore of the San Bruno Police department has handled juvenile problems for almost five years, including drug cases, family conferences, recommendations to juvenile agencies, and personal help to youngsters.

He has been a detective since last September, but has assisted on the detective bureau when needed for five to six years. He has been a resident of San Bruno since 1954.

Berner, a student at San Francisco State College, is a coordinator of San Francisco State's experimental college.

He is editor of the Stolen Paper Review, a literary journal, and is a published poet. He is an instructor for the University of California's Extension Service. His course offering is "Astronauts of Inner-space, a study of avant-garde activity."

Berner also is familiar with research in mind expanding drugs.

Following the panel's presentation, a question and answer period will follow.

The program is open to the public and geared most specifically to drugs and their relationship with teen-agers.

Plans 'Dime

A Dip' Social

A "Dime a Dip" potluck dinner will be featured at the next general meeting of the Pacifica Players, at Oddstad Center in Linda Mar, March 12, at 6 p.m. Cochairmen Margaret Heath and Charlene Amick have planned the menu.

The general meeting, to immediately follow the social event, will feature an outline of the Players' forthcoming production, "Androcles and the Lion," and readings of excerpts from the popular comedy.

Suggestions for plays to be presented in the future will be welcome, and each will be discussed, with emphasis on possible productions for the 1967-68 season.

"Both the dinner and the meeting will be open to the public," said Mrs. Amick, "and it is our hope that the result will be to acquaint more of the community with the Pacifica Players, and the enjoyment to be gained from attending live theater on a regular basis."

Women's Voter League Plans Study of China

Americans often think of China as much larger than the United States, perhaps because a mental picture of China's vast teeming millions conjures up a picture of an equally vast territory.

But this is not the case points out the North San Mateo County Provisional League of Women Voters.

Mainland China covers about the same amount of land as the United States, and, since her population is crowded into a relatively small area, is only one-half as large as our country, the unit explains.

The League soon will begin a study of China with an examination of her geography, her 700-plus million people, her ancient heritage. Later discussion will concern her contacts with the West from the early sixteenth century, China's Nationalist and Communist revolutions.

Sky Is Falling

Louanne Heath

HAVE YOU EVER noticed that there are times when the sky seems to fall on some willing worker an suddenly the dedicated soul is practically buried under a load of responsibility?

Just a little over a week ago Mrs. Eva Morton was the chic and smiling model wearing the fashions for spring at the Pacifica Federated Women's Club fashion show, Young at Heart. Today she can still manage to keep smiling as she "clomps" about her chores in wooden shoes and heavy woolen socks, tending her duties as vice president and program chairman for her club, doing the publicity releases, preparing for the branch's tenth anniversary party in April, and wrapping up the details preparatory to the Federated Women's regional convention this spring. The reason for the strange foot gear is the surgery, on both feet, which Eva had early last week, and though she had to spend several days in a San Francisco hospital on her back, figuratively she didn't miss a stride in her push to finish up the reports on the fashion show and to start the publicity ball rolling for the anniversary and the convention.

You at Heart received accolades from all quarters! The light "luncheon type" of refreshments, an innovation this year, was quite successful, the high school girls who served the tables were cute and gracious, and the uniformed cadets from the Pacifica Civil Air Patrol, Steve Bengle, Rex Starr, and Stan Shkapsky, provided an elegant touch as they assisted the models on and off the stage.

The afternoon became an extremely exciting one for 8-year-old Melissa Whitney who received the $100 money tree. Melissa is the daughter of a new member of the club who, coincidentally, was the person selected to draw the winning number. Ann Elliott was the lucky winner of the charm course given away by the Patricia Stevens School of modeling during the last regular meeting of the club.

THE MEMBERS of the Riordan Guild will meet on Tuesday evening, March 14, at 8 p.m. to hear Father Joseph Priestley, the chaplain of Riordan High School, speak on an appropriate subject for Lenten meditation.

According to Mrs. Elizabeth Bucci, publicity chairman, Mrs. William Essig will be presiding during the business session. Scheduled for the meeting is the selection of the nominating committee. Mothers of the junior division will be the evening's hostesses.

Mary Wade, Mrs. Clara Arnesen, Mrs. Eddy Farrar, Mrs. Gladys James, Mrs. Gertrude Madrosen, Mrs. Janet Spenos, Mrs. Betty Stalling, Mrs. Dorothy Sveningsen, and Mrs. Irene Thorsen were the delegates sent by the Daly City branch of the California Association for Childhood Education to the 1967 Study Conference held in Fresno this past weekend.

Theme for the gathering was Self-fulfillment for Every Child with another Bay Area educator, Dr. Mary B. Lane of San Francisco State College, offering the keynote address. Miss Wade is the president of the Daly City group.

Plans are well along the way for Our Lady of Perpetual Help Mothers' Club's annual Fashion Show and Luncheon which will be held on April 22 at the Hilton Inn, at the International Airport, according to Mrs. Robert Zaro, the publicity chairman.

Mrs. Zaro reports that $125 in cash will be given away during the afternoon as one of the major highlights. Also, ready to be awarded to lucky guests are a Black Angus Rotisserie-Broiler and a $25 gift certificate from Celestine's House of Styles. (Clothes from the collection at Celestine's will be displayed during the show.)

Reservations are available to those writing Mrs. Theodore Reed, 359 Willits Street in Daly City, Mrs. Zaro has announced.

KEVIN IS THE NAME selected for the new son born last week to Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Lane, late of Westlake and now residing in Eureka, Nev., where Jerry is the newly installed district attorney.

Dorothy was released earlier this week from San Francisco's Children's Hospital and is staying with local friends until the baby is old enough to make the trip back to northeastern Nevada.

Mrs. Richard Silver and Mrs. Charles Wester are the ladies in charge of the 1967 version of the annual doughnut sale sponsored by the Westlake Catholic Women.

Plans for this year's sale call for volunteer workers to staff the new Hunt's Donut Shop at 210 Skyline Plaza from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m. on Sunday, March 19.

All varieties will be sold in the shop that day for a variety of prices. In addition, presale orders for cake doughnuts costing $1 per box, are being accepted by Mrs. Wester at PL 5-7296.

All the proceeds of the sale go to the building fund for the Our Lady of Mercy parish school.

Mrs. Kathy Mackey, longtime an active member of the Pacifica Fifty-Plus Club, is leaving her Coastside home to establish a new residence in Concord where she will be near her son and daughter-in-law.

MRS. CARMEN PROWSE reports that the Hawaiian Luau at the Good Shepherd parish hall was attended by more than 200 guests including Pacifica's Mayor Harold Minshew and his wife.

According to Carmen, a major portion of the evening's success was due to the efforts of United Air Lines, Matson Navigation Co., Borden's Milk, Mrs. Peter Marcar, the Brentwood Super X Market, Savemore Produce, Pacific Market, Minshew's Merchandise Mart, Farber's Pharmacy, Cala Food, Moose Lodge, Safeway Stores, Peter Neuenchwander, P&O Orient Lines, Dona Starr, and Mrs. Gretchen Makalwi, all who contributed to the evening. Mrs. Prowse reports Mrs. Makalwi was the general chairman of the event and also surprised everyone by performing two dances to the musical accompaniment of the Tiki Serenaders and Dancers.

A good, old-fashioned boiled dinner is being promised to everyone who comes to the Jiggs dinner being planned for March 28 by the Pacifica Fifty-Plus Club.

Mrs. Edna Laurel Calhan, president, promised delectable corned beef with all the trimmings for club members and guests who purchase the tickets for $1.75 each.

April Book Fair Plans Being Made

Plans are being made for the annual Book Fair of the Friends of the Daly City Library which has been set for April 15, in the Mall at Westlake Shopping Center.

Mrs. F. Lincoln Walter, president of the friends group, has appointed Mrs. U. R. Kendree as general chairman.

This is a project in which the community is asked to share by donating used books of all types to be sold, also to buy the books, with the net proceeds being used to present a gift to the Daly City Public Library and for the operating expenses of the friends.

Further details of where to leave the books that are donated will be announced shortly.

Sportman and gourmet alike applaud Alpine Pie, a masterful combination of bacon, eggs, Swiss cheese and onion, baked in a pastry shell.

Best when prepared with the finest ingredients, Alpine Pie rates new MiraCure Bacon, just introduced by Armour and Company. It spatters less, shrinks less; you can peel off slices easily. The tastier, meatier bacon makes Alpine Pie taste even better.

Serve the pie with big mugs of cocoa or coffee for the sportsman--with demitasse for more elegant entertaining.

Alpine Pie

9-inch unbaked pie shell 3 eggs
16 slices bacon 1 cup milk
1 cup diced onion 2 tablespoons chopped parsley
1 tablespoon flour 1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup shredded Swiss cheese 1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Cut 12 slices of bacon into bite-size pieces; pan fry until crisp. Remove from skillet; drain. Reserve 2 tablespoons of bacon drippings. Sauté onions in bacon drippings until tender. Spoon sautéed onions into pie shell. Sprinkle shredded cheese, then flour over onions. In a mixing bowl, beat eggs well, stir in milk, bacon pieces, parsley, salt, pepper and Worcestershire sauce. Pour into pie shell. Meanwhile, pan fry 6 remaining slices of bacon until partially cooked. Drain, then arrange on top of pie forming spokes. Bake 15 minutes in a 400 degree oven, reduce heat to 300 degrees and continue cooking for 25 minutes. When done, a table knife inserted in center of pie will come out clean.

Pimiento Queen's Favorite Recipe

Miss Jan Lambert, a 17 year old from Thomaston, Georgia has been named this year's Pimiento Queen. The pretty honey blonde is a student at Robert E. Lee Institute in Thomaston and hopes to study Journalism at the University of Georgia.

Visitors at the Woodbury Pimiento Festival, over which Jan reigned, learned that Pimientos are one of the major crops of Georgia and that they are used often in Southern cooking. Jan likes the bright red color that Pimientos add to her recipe for Georgia Rebels. These hot, saucy sandwiches are a favorite 'quick-to-fix' snack or 'pick-up' party food.

Georgia Rebels

6 large French rolls
Mayonnaise
Lettuce leaves
3/4 cup ketchup
2 tablespoons brown sugar
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
3 cups cooked pork, ham, frankfurters or luncheon meat, cut into 1-inch pieces (about 1 pound)
6 canned pineapple slices, quartered
1 (7-ounce) jar Dromedary Pimiento Whole Peas, drained, cut into about 18 pieces
Pickle relish

Split rolls lengthwise almost through. Spread with mayonnaise; then line with lettuce leaves. Combine next three ingredients. Thread meat, pineapple and Dromedary Pimiento alternately on 6 skewers. Brush with half of ketchup mixture. Broil about 8 minutes, turning once and brushing with remaining sauce. Place on split rolls. Press together lightly and pull out skewers. Spoon on some relish; then close rolls and serve. Makes 6 servings.

DENTAL HEALTH FACTS

"Cavities"

There are millions of bacteria in your mouth. Some are quite harmful because they act on sugars and other carbohydrates to form acids. These acids dissolve the enamel of the teeth. That is the beginning of tooth decay.

Unless decay is stopped by a dentist, who removes the decayed portion of the tooth and puts in a filling, decay proceeds from the enamel into the dentin and then into the pulp. Once the pulp has been infected, it may be too late to save the tooth.

Have your dentist check your teeth and take care of any cavities that may be present.

Dr. Campbell limits his practice to the making of dental plates, partial plates, removable bridges and extractions for some; however, he recommends that you see your dentist at least twice a year in order to help prolong the use of your natural teeth as even the beautiful modern dentures are not as efficient as healthy, natural teeth.

San Francisco International Airport's Sound Abatement Center was last week asked to oppose the Pacific Air Commerce Center proposal for industries and residences where now there is bay.

William Hawkins, a TWA pilot who is area spokesman for the Air Line Pilots' Association, made the appeal.

ALPA, he said, has already passed a resolution opposing the creation of a new band of homes under the flight paths of planes landing and taking off at San Francisco International.

If residents of Foster City complain, he suggested, when their homes are a half mile and more from the established flight routes, what will happen if new residential areas are created closer to the flight paths?

The Pacific Air Commerce Center plan proposed by the Rockefeller interests, he noted, would establish a band of industry and residences on land that is now bay, stretching from Millbrae to the San Mateo Bridge east of San Mateo, and engulfing Coyote Point.

It is this line that pilots most often use in approaching San Francisco International, he said, and it is commonly used for take-offs during certain weather conditions.

Members of the Sound Abatement Center agreed to study the proposal, viewing it in light of their frequent complaints from Foster City residents that over-flying planes are a source of annoyance.

Directory At Bruno Planned

A new San Bruno city directory will be published and distributed June 1, Chamber of Commerce Manager Dick King said this week.

Sponsored jointly by the chamber and the city, the publication will be the first official San Bruno directory published since 1959. King said 11,702 copies will be distributed.

Pacifican Is Indicted In Mint Thefts

A Pacifican, an employee of the San Francisco mint, was one of three persons accused by a federal grand jury of stealing samples of their handiwork.

The Pacifican to have an embezzlement indictment returned against him was Lee Bedgood, 32.

Secret Service agents said Bedgood was arrested as he left the mint with cardboard sheets taped to his legs and $50 in newly minted quarters stuck to the sheets. He had another $44 in fresh quarters in a tobacco pouch, agents said.

Sagin, the agents continued, is accused of taking some 200 quarter blanks, coins not yet stamped. A laundromat owner reported finding such blanks in his coin machine.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Richard Urdan estimated there was a $15,000 loss last year in half dollars. No estimate was made on the loss of quarters, which still is being investigated.

Mint officials declined to estimate losses but said they had been considerable. They based their statements on weight figures of metal coming into the mint and going out legally.

The indictments followed a four-month investigation and the Secret Service recommends tightening the security system at the mint.

"There is more tightening up to do," commented Tom H. Hanson, Secret Service chief in San Francisco. Departing employees are not searched or required to change clothing or pass a metal detecting device.

Hanson said the thefts are the first by employees since at least 1925.

Writer Golden Guest Speaker

San Francisco writer Janet Golden, will be the honored guest speaker at the annual communion breakfast of the Catholic Parent-Teacher Groups of San Mateo County on Monday, March 13.

Rev. Paul Coleman, pastor of St. Veronica's Church, South San Francisco, will celebrate the 9 a.m. Mass there preceding the breakfast in the school hall.

P-TA Hears Of Increase In Drug Use

Pacific Manor School parents and teachers in Pacifica learned last week that a "tremendous increase" in the number of juvenile narcotics cases is being handled by San Mateo County probation officers.

A five-year veteran of the probation department, Ronald March, said juvenile narcotics offenders — mostly for use and sale of marijuana — numbered 157 in 1966.

Citing several statistics in his informal talk last night, March said the 1966 figure was more than triple that of narcotics cases referred to Hillcrest Juvenile Center in the entire previous decade. From 1956 through 1965, juvenile authorities handled but 45 referrals, March explained.

He also touched briefly on the use of LSD by youngsters. March called it a "dangerous drug," the use of which has resulted in the shifting of six San Mateo County youngsters to Agnew State Hospital.

March said the youths had been under LSD influence and "never came out."

The severity of the reaction to the drug, he said, depends greatly on the makeup of the user's personality or state of mind at the time.

The user suffering serious depression might be the one who jumps out of windows, he added.

March said the majority of youngsters referred to juvenile authorities for marijuana use are "not heavy users."

Their contact has come, apparently at parties or a get-together after school, when they've been talked into trying the drug.

Repeated users and sellers, he thought, probably have their own emotional problems.

Narcotics users cannot all be treated in the same manner. The treatment, March said, must be based on understanding the user and treating him as an individual.

A parent wondered if marijuana is as easily available as teenagers say.

March noted that some youths are able to obtain drugs easily.

There is a delinquent group in any community that makes this type of contact.

In answer to another question about the relationship of "more money" to increased delinquency, March declared that while the juvenile buying power has increased, it does not seem to be a major factor.

In fact, percentage-wise San Mateo County's juvenile delinquency rate has not increased. The number of juvenile cases has gone up as a result of increased population. Theft is the reason for most referrals, March said.

REPRESENTATIVES OF PACIFICA'S service organizations are forming a Christmas Basket Committee whose function will be to assist and coordinate organizational Christmas activities involving needy families. Mrs. Fred Ballew (left) and Mrs. Dorothy Edminster were named co-chairmen of the committee. Patterned after San Mateo County's Volunteer Bureau, the group hopes that formation at this time will enable member organizations the time to plan co-ordinated Christmas activity, and plan early for the seasonal needs. Wonderful Flavor That Comes On Wonderful flavor asserts itself!

Assorted Sandwiches
Mixed Olives
Chocolate Filbert
Thumbprint Cookies
Tea with Lemon, Milk or Cream
CHOCOLATE FILBERT THUMBPRINT COOKIES
1/4 pound (1/2 cup) butter
1/2 cup sifted confectioners' sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup sifted regular flour
1/4 cup (scant) semi-sweet chocolate pieces
1-3 cup (about toasted filberts)

In a medium mixing bowl, cream the butter, sugar and vanilla. With beater or spoon, gradually blend in the flour; cover tightly and chill until firm enough to handle easily several hours to overnight. Using 1 level tablespoon measure of dough for each, make into balls. Place a few inches apart on ungreased cookie sheet; make a small indentation in each ball with a finger. (Cookies will spread and indentations widen during baking.) Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven until straw-color around edges — 10 to 15 minutes. Remove from oven; at once place 4 chocolate pieces in each indentation and 2 filberts on top of chocolate on each cookie. (Chocolate will melt and hold nuts in place.) With wide spatula, remove to wire racks to cool. Makes about 15 cookies. Store in tightly covered container.

To toast filberts, spread in single layer on sheet of heavy foil with edges turned up about 1/2-inch (or in very shallow pan) and bake in a hot (400 degrees) oven until browned and nuts have rich, toasted flavor—5 to 15 minutes; shake pan a few times during toasting. Remove any brown skins that will come off by rubbing nuts, while still warm, between palms.

Baked Hash And Eggs For A Threesome

Just right for you, your groom, and a friend.

Orange Section with Strawberries
Baked Hash and Eggs
Chili Sauce
Hot Biscuits Beverage
Baked Hash and Eggs
1 can (15 1/2-oz.) corned beef hash
3 large eggs

Into an 8-inch heat-proof oven-glass pie plate turn the hash; break up hash with a fork but do not mash potatoes. With the back of a spoon, make 3 hollows in the hash at an equal distance from one another. Bake in a moderate (375 degrees) oven until thoroughly hot—about 15 minutes. Break an egg into each hollow in hash; cover pie plate tightly with foil; return to the 375-degree oven and bake until eggs are set and white is opaque—12 to 15 minutes. Makes three servings.

Viennese Fine Relish

Deliciously flavored cookie that is not overly sweet.
Jelly Tarts Viennese Cookies
Tea with Lemon, Milk or Cream
VIENNESE COOKIES

1 cup butter
1/2 cup sifted confectioners' sugar
1 egg yolk (from a large egg)
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 1/2 cups sifted regular flour
1 1/4 cups grated (use hand-operated rotary grater) toasted filberts

Cream butter, sugar, egg yolk, salt and vanilla. Gradually blend in flour, then filberts. Cover tightly and chill until firm. On a pastry cloth with stockinet-covered rolling pin, roll out one-quarter of the dough at a time (keep rest refrigerated) 1/4-inch thick. Cut out with round 2 1/4-inch cutter. Place 1 inch apart on ungreased cookie sheets. Bake at 350-degrees about 10 minutes. Roll in extra confectioners' sugar; cool. Makes about 4 dozen. (After toasting filberts in a 400-degree oven, rub off as many of the brown skins as possible).

Continental Pie

Give a Continental touch to dessert by spreading a hot apple pie with butterscotch or caramel frosting then covering it generously with finely chopped California walnuts.

Red Pepper Relish Comes From West

Pepper Relish, made from sweet red peppers, recently came to our attention when a friend sent us a jar of it.

When we asked for the recipe, our donor told us that she herself had been given the rule some 30 years ago by a home demonstration agent in Connecticut who originally came from the Far West.

Sweet red pepper relish may indeed be a western contribution. To date we have not found recipes for it in comprehensive cookbooks published in the first quarter of this century. It did not appear in a New England book on preserving that was published in 1915; only when the cookbook came out in a revised edition in 1943 was the rule included. The southern compilations of preserving recipes that we have looked into do not include recipes for it.

This relish is sometimes called Red Pepper Jam. Be that as it may, we think it should be served as a relish with a main course.

Sweet Red Pepper Relish has a really different flavor that tasters either fall for or disdain. Its character is such that no one can be indifferent to it!

RED PEPPER RELISH
14 to 16 medium-size sweet red

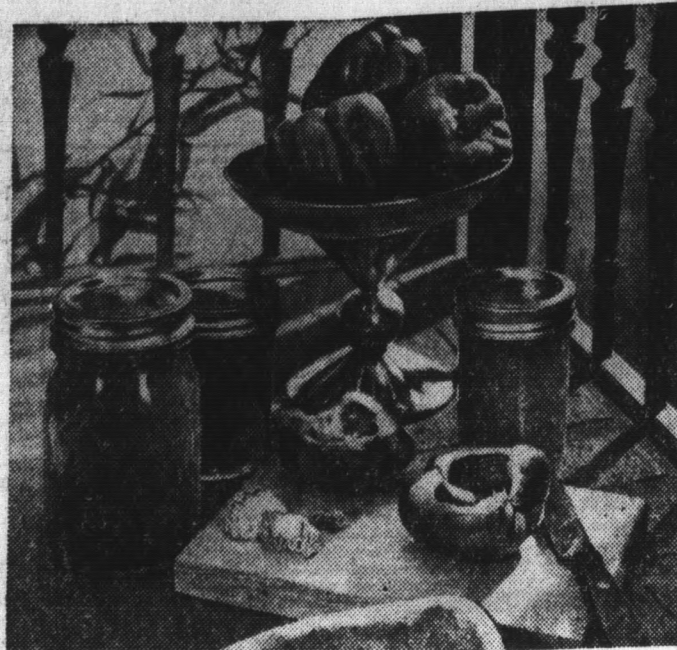

peppers (4 1/4 to 4 1/2 pounds)
2 tablespoons salt
5 cups sugar
3 cups cider vinegar
1/2 teaspoon onion powder
1/2 teaspoon ground ginger
1/4 teaspoon citric acid (comes in granule form from drug-store)

Wash and drain peppers; remove seeds and mid-ribs. Chop fine as many of the peppers as necessary to make 7 cups; turn into a non-metallic container and mix with salt. Cover and let stand for several hours.

Turn pepper mixture into a

5-quart kettle; mix in the sugar, vinegar, onion powder, ground ginger and citric acid. Boil, stirring often, until thick — about 1 hour. Fill a sterilized hot wide-mouth fruit jar with boiling-hot relish, leaving 1/2-inch head space. Put prepared dome lid and band on jar; screw band tight. Immediately fill the remaining jars, one at a time, in the same way. Makes about 2 1/2 pints.

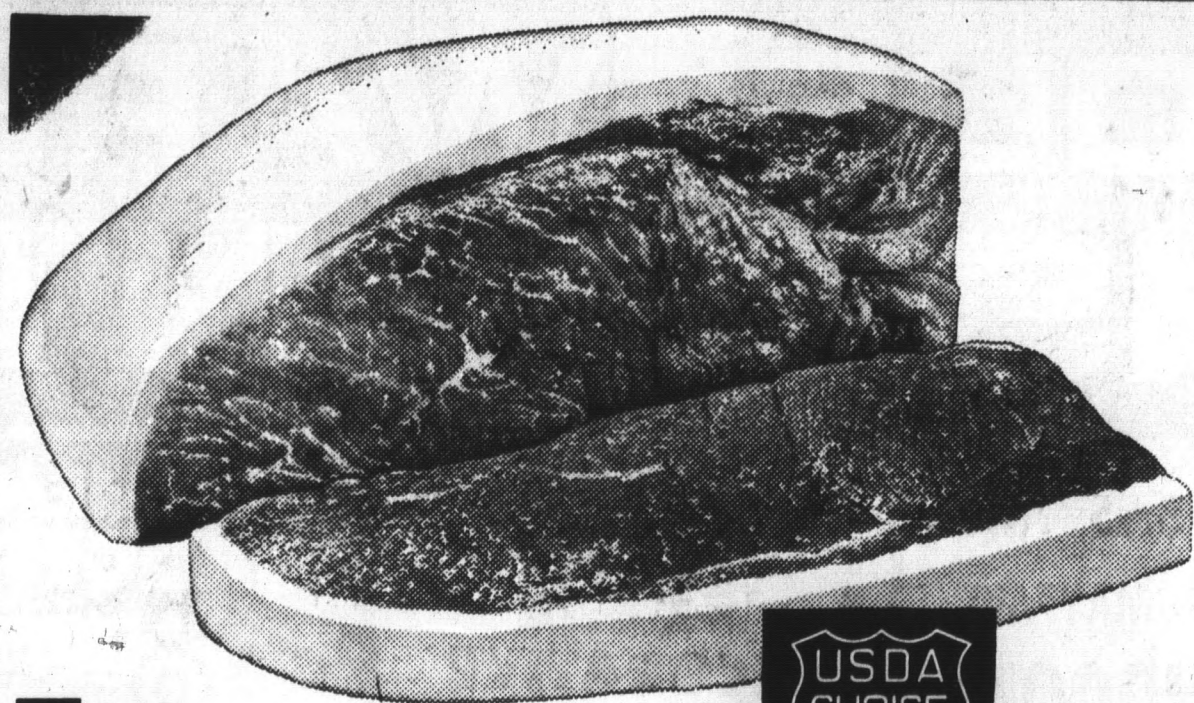

Note: Sterilize the widemouth jars and prepare the dome lids and screw bands according to manufacturer's directions.

'Black Sugar' Licorice Base

"Black sugar" is a juice. Extracted from the root of the European licorice plant. Like brown and white sugar, it is sweet. But unlike pure sugar, which is refined from both cane and beet plants, black sugar has a slightly astringent flavor.

Because of this, licorice is either loved or loathed—no half way about it. Black sugar, sometimes called Spanish juice, is evaporated, mixed with starch to prevent melting, and dried for months before it becomes licorice candy.

Here's Some Menu Tips

Home economists suggest many tips for easing or improving your menus. Here are a few:

Did you know that a little butter added to water in which you boil noodles and spaghetti will help to prevent the pasta from sticking together? About 1 tablespoon of butter to 4 quarts of water is sufficient.

Did you know that you can freeze butter then thaw slowly in the refrigerator when needed?

To give extra nutrition to your family on these "cold-catching days" home economists suggest preparing your hot cereals, such as oatmeal and cream of wheat, with milk instead of water.

Hot chocolate milk is a much more nourishing winter snack for the children than carbonated beverages.

Add bits of chopped water chestnuts to French-cut green beans for a nice texture contrast, suggest home economists.

Baking powder biscuits, dipped in melted butter and cheddar cheese and baked, make wonderful accompaniments for fried chicken, according to home economists.

Finely chopped and buttered almonds make a truly gourmet topping for vegetables. Home economists particularly recommend this topping for cooked broccoli and cauliflower.

These Cookies Will Take To Traveling (to School)

BOYS AND GIRLS at school appreciate cookies that take to traveling. And mothers of several generations have often chosen a bar cookie made with an oatmeal base and a dried fruit filling to pack into lunch boxes for dessert.

When I was young, my mother made a version of these very cookies — just as your mother may have done. But in those days making them was a labor of love, for the oatmeal was often put through the food chopper. Nowadays these cookies are still made with love — but without any extra labor. Quick-cooking rolled oats are used "as is."

This is a sweet cookie, for its filling is a combination of dates and raisins, and brown sugar goes into the oatmeal base. We like these bars served with vanilla ice cream, with a tart lemon or orange gelatin dessert or with an unsweetened fresh fruit compote. They're delicious, too, when they're munched along with a cold crisp apple!

One tip about their making. Use the butter or margarine called for straight from the refrigerator so it is firm enough to "cut" easily into the dry ingredients.

RAISIN-DATE OATMEAL BARS

1/2 cup sifted regular flour
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
1-3 cup butter or margarine
1 1/4 cups quick-cooking rolled oats

Raisin Date Filling

In a medium mixing bowl sift together the flour, baking soda and salt; stir in brown sugar. With a pastry blender, cut in butter until particles are fine. Stir in oats. With your hands, press one half of the mixture over the bottom of a greased square cake pan (8 by 8 by 2 inches). With a small spatula, spread with Raisin-Date Filling. Cover with remaining mixture, pressing lightly. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven about 30 minutes. Cool partially in pan; cut in bars; with a spatula, remove bars to wire rack to cool completely. Store in tightly covered tin box.

RAISIN-DATE FILLING

1 cup raisins
1 cup chopped pitted dates
1/2 cup granulated sugar
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
1/4 cup orange juice

Into a small saucepan turn the raisins, dates, granulated sugar, orange rind and juice. Simmer, stirring occasionally, until thickened — about 10 minutes. Cool. Use this filling as directed in Raisin-Date Oatmeal Bars recipe.

Spotlight Is on Dairy

Each season has its food favorites and the Lenten season finds many families seeking substitutes for meat. Many will find new menu excitement in fish, shellfish, eggs, macaroni and vegetable plates made better with dairy products.

Nutritionists of the Dairy Council of California remind us that milk in all its natural forms is high in protein necessary for body repair and for life itself. It is also an outstanding source of calcium which is essential in building bones and teeth. Good old Cheddar cheese is one of our finest and most economical of foods. Butter, buttermilk, cottage cheese, dairy sour cream, yogurt and ice cream contribute their share of milk nutrients; combine ideally with practically every known food.

Westmoor B-A Students Named

Selected to represent Westmoor High School in the 1967 Bank of America Achievement Awards program are seniors William Villalon, Science and Mathematics; Charles B. Johnston, Fine Arts; Muriel Friedman, Liberal Arts; and Angela da Cunha, Vocational Arts.

These students will receive a trophy and have the opportunity to compete for cash awards.

William, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Villalon of 117 Belmar Avenue, has a perfect 4.0 grade point average in courses which have included college preparatory subjects.

As President of the Math Club he helped in inaugurating the club's weekly tutoring program. With physicist as his vocational goal, he has remained active in the Science Club and is presently Vice-President of that group.

Playing trumpet in the marching band, pep band and stage band for four years, Charles achieved membership in the national music honor organization, Modern Music Masters, as a sophomore.

In addition to sporting an A-average, Charles sports trophies and records in track, where he is Westmoor's top pole vaulter. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Blake Johnston of 55 Palisades Drive.

Ranking second in the class with only three B's on her four year record, Muriel has been active in student government, Junior Statesmen, Girls' Athletic Association, and speech.

On February 18, Muriel captured the first place trophy in oratorical analysis in the Golden Gate Speech Association Individual Events contest.

During the same week Muriel who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Friedman of 82 North Mayfair, served as City Treasurer in the Daly City Youth in Government Program. This was the same position she held last semester in the Westmoor Student government.

Business major, Angela da Cunha, who hopes to become a legal secretary, has concentrated her efforts on the Future Business Leaders of America club, although she has also participated in the Spanish Club and received recognition for her achievement in the National Spanish Test as a sophomore. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs.

Eneas da Cunha of 647 St. Francis Blvd., Angela has also been involved in the Junior Achievement program.

Twelve other students were cited for their superior performance in specific fields of study and will receive certificates of merit.

They are Mathematics, Jim Reed, 74 Santa Elena, Daly City; Laboratory Science, Richard Tosetti, 879 Southgate; music, James Harvin, 75 Belhaven; Art, Douglas O'Brien, 374 Higate; Drama, Diana Bravos, 12 Crestview; English, Virginia Thuenner, 154 Belcrest; Social Science, Ginger Giammona, 159 Santa Paula; Foreign Language, Brigitte Tetzner, 323 Skyline; Business, Nancy Granucci, 58 Pacifico; Home Economics, Pauline Iwahashi, 11 Hillsdale; Trades and Industrial Arts, Martin McGee, 60 Fairmont.

After a screening committee carefully reviews the records of the trophy winners, the students chosen for the events will be notified during the latter half of March. Zone competition for local students will be held in April.

At these zones events, a panel of distinguished civic, business, and professional leaders will interview the students. Winners will be chosen on the basis of scholastic records, extracurricular activities, and the interviews.

Youth Held As Arsonist

A 15-year-old San Bruno youth was caught lighting paper that he had stuffed into a locker at the Parkside School on Niles Street Sunday.

San Bruno police said prior arson attempts at the school had prompted a stakeout by firemen.

The youth does not live in the area, the authorities said.

A Mexican Dish Is Tasty, Special

Many delicious and exciting dishes come to us from our neighbors south of the border. One of the tastiest is the mole, a very special sauce for meats, made from several kinds of spices. Requiring hours, sometimes days to prepare, the Mexican mole is so time-consuming that it is traditionally made only on occasions and feasts of great importance. But the happy mole-eating populace believes that this dish is well worth waiting for.

Here we have an all-American version of the mole, an up-to-date dish that uses convenience foods in its preparation and gets to your table in hardly any time at all. Yet it has all the savory good flavor of the Mexican original.

Brown pieces of chicken with almonds in a skillet. Add green pepper, onion, and minced garlic to zip up the taste. Then, for that authentic Mexican flavor, stir in a can of chili con carne (with beans) . . . for good heavy richness, hearty beef flavor, and tasty chili tang you can't do better. The final seasoning touch of chocolate, cinnamon, and cloves gives a dark richness to the dish.

To complete your fiesta, serve a green salad with oil and vinegar dressing and fill a hollowed out pineapple with juicy chunks of pineapple and avocado squares. Good appetite!

QUICK MOLE
2 pounds chicken parts
¼ cup slivered almonds
2 tablespoons oil
1-3 cup diced green pepper
¼ cup chopped onion
¼ cup water
1 medium clove garlic, minced
1 can (15½ oz.) chili con carne (with beans)
2 teaspoons grated unsweetened chocolate
Generous dash cinnamon
Dash cloves

In skillet, brown chicken and almonds in oil; pour off fat. Add green pepper, onion, water, and garlic. Cover; cook over low heat 30 minutes. Stir now and then. Add chili, chocolate, cinnamon, and cloves. Cover; cook 15 minutes longer. Stir now and then. Makes four to six servings.

Rediscover Dumplings—Family Delight

In the early "recipe" books which still exist, the soup chapters are always right "up front." Soup was served as a first course, a valid reason why soups made up the initial group of recipes. Another consideration was that soups have always been very important to the diets of our fathers—both as an appetizer course, and as a hearty stew-like supper.

A soup pot was standard equipment in many pioneer homes. It "lived" on the back of the stove and into it went suitable tidbits from the farms and forests.

One thing these soups frequently had in common was an accompaniment of dumplings. The light, fluffy soup toppings were made of a mixture similar to baking powder biscuit dough which was dropped on the steaming soup, and cooked for about ten minutes.

Big soup suppers are much in vogue today and dumplings are again finding favor because of their old-fashioned goodness.

There are many variations which add a special something to the delicious canned condensed soups which are prepared in a jiffy in our modern kitchens.

CHICKEN DUMPLING SOUP

¼ cup coarsely grated carrot
¼ cup chopped celery
2 tablespoons chopped onion
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
2 cans (10½ ounces each) Campbell's condensed

chicken with rice soup
2 soup cans water
1 cup cubed cooked chicken
½ cup packaged biscuit mix
2 tablespoons milk
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
Cook vegetables in butter until almost tender. Stir in soup, water, and chicken. Heat. Lightly blend biscuit mix, milk, and parsley. Drop small amount of dough from tip of a teaspoon into simmering soup. Cook for 5 minutes; cover and cook another 5 minutes.

Show-Offs Will Adore This Cake

Remember the good, rich butter cakes your mother used to bake? They were so moist and tender. Naturally, they took a little more time than our modern "box" cakes, but there was something so special about a cake made "from scratch."

If you'd like to show off for your family and prove that you're really as good a cook as "his mother," probably better, then try your hand at this delicious Golden Yellow Cake.

A rich, caramel filling graces the high layers and can even substitute as a frosting. Naturally, if you'd like to really gild the lily, frost the cake with your favorite chocolate fudge frosting.

GOLDEN YELLOW CAKE
½ cup butter
1½ cups sugar
4 eggs
1 tablespoon vanilla
3 cups flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup milk

Cream butter and sugar. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Add vanilla. Sift dry ingredients together. Add flour mixture to creamed mixture, alternating with milk. Start with flour and end with flour. Pour into two greased and floured 8-inch cake pans. Bake in 375-degree oven for 30-35 minutes or until done.

CREAM CARAMEL FILLING
¼ pound (1 stick) butter
5 tablespoons flour
1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
1 cup whipping cream
In double boiler, melt butter. Mix flour and sugar together and stir into butter. Add cream. Cook over medium heat until thick, stirring often. Cool, and spread between layers of cooled cake.

Scallops A Lenten Must

Simple and simply elegant for serving anytime but particularly during the Lenten season are these Butter Broiled Scallops. Slice scallops across the grain into bite-size pieces. Roll in bread crumbs flavored with just a bit of dry mustard and garlic powder. Broil in butter to give them that wonderful browned butter taste for about 5 minutes or until lightly browned. Sprinkle with a bit of Sherry, if desired, and cook an additional 2 minutes. Serve with lemon slices and hot buttered toast triangles for a luncheon treat or as a meat course for dinner.

Nuts Enhance Sour Cream

This unusual and nutritious nut and raisin sour cream cake filling comes from home economists for the Dairy Council of California. Simply stir some chopped nuts and raisins into dairy sour cream; spread between cake layers. That's all there is to it. Good, too, as a topping for squares of cake or an apple pie.

Have You Ever Braised Celery?

Fresh vegetables add charm to a menu at any time of year. Right now you can do no better than to serve an interesting combination of braised celery with fresh mushroom sauce. Because this combination can be so prettily arranged — the celery ribs stacked atop the sauce — it makes an attractive dish to offer for lunch or supper when company comes.

The celery-mushroom combination is delicious served with sliced meat (cold or hot), with hamburgers or ham patties, or with fish (broiled, fried or baked). No salad is needed. But hot biscuits, Italian bread with sesame seeds, or crisp French rolls are a worthwhile accompaniment.

Braised celery may also be used in other delightful ways. Here are two suggestions. Marinate plain braised celery in an olive oil and white wine vinegar dressing and offer it on crisp romaine leaves with a garnish of scarlet pimiento. (Along with salt and pepper, you may want to add a suspension of dry mustard to the oil and vinegar dressing.)

Serve plain braised celery with a cheese sauce and stuffed eggs for a main course for lunch.

BRAISED CELERY WITH MUSHROOM SAUCE

12 ribs tender celery
6 snap beans, tipped and washed
1/2 cup thinly sliced onion (medium)
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup boiling water
1 chicken bouillon cube
5 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/2 pound mushrooms, thinly sliced

1 teaspoon fresh lemon juice
Milk
2 tablespoons flour

Choose ribs of celery that are similar in size; removes leaves and thoroughly wash ribs in cold water; cut into about 4-inch-long pieces. Into a 10-inch skillet turn the celery, snap beans, onion, salt and boiling water. Boil, covered, until celery and beans are tender — about ten minutes. Drain over a measure, reserving liquid. Set vegetables aside to keep warm.

THE POST
Wednesday, March 2, 1967

Add bouillon cube to vegetable liquid and set this aside.

In the clean skillet, melt 3 tablespoons of the butter; add mushrooms and lemon juice; cook gently until mushrooms wilt — about 5 minutes. Drain, reserving mushroom liquid. Set mushrooms aside. Add mushroom liquid to reserved vegetable liquid; add enough milk to make 1 cup.

In a 1-quart saucepan over low heat, melt the remaining 2 tablespoons butter; stir in the flour. Add the milk mixture and cook and stir constantly until thickened. Add drained mushrooms and reheat. Pour sauce into serving dish. Arrange celery, onion and green beans over sauce, stacking the celery in six portions and using a green bean as a garnish for each stack. Makes 6 servings.

Bacon, Turnip Add Variation To Beef Stew

Looking for a hot meal on a cool day? One answer to that is a beef stew, tingling with flavor. Here are meat and vegetables, cooked together, delicious to taste.

A bit of bacon does wonders in adding that novel touch to an ordinary stew. Cut into bits, it's lightly browned and will lend its flavor to the beef cubes browned in the bacon drippings. It will also contribute a great deal in savoriness to the vegetables, especially turnips which give still another variation.

A tight covering and slow cooking not only tenderizes the boneless beef cubes, maintains a meat expert, but it also brings out the full flavor of a less tender cut used for preparation of this stew.

Country-Style Beef Stew

2 pounds boneless beef for stew, cut in 1 1/2-inch cubes.
4 slices bacon
2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/2 teaspoon marjoram
1 clove garlic, minced.
2 cups water.
4 medium potatoes.
6 medium carrots.
6 small onions.
1 small turnip.
3 tablespoons flour.

Cut bacon into 1-inch pieces. Cook until lightly browned. Remove bacon pieces and brown beef in bacon drippings. Add bacon, salt, pepper, marjoram, garlic and water. Cover tightly and cook slowly 2 hours. Cut potatoes and carrots in half and turnips in quarters. Add vegetables and cook an additional 45 minutes or until meat is tender and vegetables are done. Remove meat and vegetables to serving platter. Add water to cooking liquid to make 2 cups. Thicken liquid with flour for gravy. Six servings.

PICKLED BEET AND HORSE RADISH RELISH

1 jar (1 pound) sewet pickled sliced beets, thoroughly drained
1 container (8 ounces) sour cream
1 tablespoon drained bottled white horseradish
1/4 teaspoon salt

Cut sliced beets into about 1/4-inch wide strips and turn into a serving bowl. Add sour cream; sprinkle with horseradish and salt; carefully but thoroughly mix with beets. Cover tightly and chill for several hours or overnight. Mix gently before serving and wipe sides of bowl. Makes 6 generous servings.

Milk Paradox For Dieters

The charm of this delicious Pork Chops with Milk Gravy recipe is its ease of preparation... plus its good milk nutrition, of course. Brown as many thick pork chops as needed in a skillet that can be used in the oven.

Salt and pepper lavishly. Completely cover top with corn flakes slightly crushed. Cover all with milk. Bake in moderate, 350 degree, oven for 1 hour. The corn flakes thicken the milk to make the delicious gravy-like topping, leaving excess fat in bottom of pan.

COMMENT

Absurd Millbrae Ordinance Offered

A new ordinance being currently proposed for the city of Millbrae would provide that the term of office of any member of an appointive board or commission of the city will be automatically terminated if he files nomination papers for election to any public office.

Such an ordinance would be in obvious restraint of the democratic processes, an open invitation to nullifying court action, and, in the long run, likely to embarrass the city by depriving it of the services of able, public-spirited citizens as members of appointive boards and commissions.

As a matter of practice the appointive boards and commissions of most cities can be regarded as effective training for the holding of elective posts in civic government. Many persons now in higher elective office got their start on the local boards and commissions. In turn, municipal elective office has often been the launching pad for careers in higher political echelons.

Curiously enough, the proposed Millbrae ordinance places a blanket ban on elective office candidacy by board members and commissioners. If a member of the recreation commission chose to run for State Senator, for Congress, or for Governor, his ambition would promptly remove him from the recreation commission. This kind of automatic dismissal, without reference to ability, performance, or value of service, is patently absurd.

The right of every qualified citizen to seek elective public office is no more to be abridged than his right to vote. To condition this right by making it mandatory to resign or retire from other public service is clearly an abridgment.

Without speculating on what motives may have prompted this ill-studied and ill-advised proposed local legislation in Millbrae, it is plainly far from being in the public interest. It should be dropped forthwith.

The Cities' Voices

A crowded meeting of the North County Council of Cities last night ended in a chorus of confusion and factionalism after three hours of discussion on the proposed Association of Bay Area Governments.

Meeting in South San Francisco, mayors and councilmen of the NCCC member cities one after another voiced their approval or disapproval of ABAG, with opponents of the regional government heavily outnumbering backers.

San Bruno Councilman Maurice Hamilton, an ABAG director, told the delegates, "There is going to be a regional government for the Bay Area."

"The only question now at issue is whether we will have a voice in it or it will be formed and directed by the state government," Hamilton said.

"I strongly recommend that we cooperate with the other Bay Area cities and support this project," he said.

Leading the opposition to ABAG was Daly City Councilman Michael DeBernardi, who urged other cities to join his council in a strong "anti-ABAG" stand.

"If we don't insist upon being heard now, we are going to be rolled over," he said.

The Daly City Council adopted a resolution opposing the plan this week.

DeBernardi urged the NCCC to adopt a resolution opposing the regional government, but no vote was taken last night.

Most of the councilmen present were of the opinion that ABAG represents a threat to "home rule" in the county.

Two county supervisors, Robert St. Clair and Mrs. Jean Fassler, were also present at the meeting. The Board of Supervisors has expressed tentative approval of ABAG, but St. Clair and Mrs. Fassler said there is also some question about "exactly where the board stands" on the matter.

The NCCC and supervisors will hold a joint meeting on ABAG next Wednesday.

2 of Outstanding Year-End Works

Samuel Chandler

Do you know who invented the hamburger?

Who was the first meat packer in America?

Where to find the world's most famous beef trail?

Do you know that Salisbury Steak originated in the mind of an English doctor, who advised his patients to eat ground beef three times a day?

You'll find the answers to these and many other unusual questions when you read John Drury's book, "Rare and Well Done."

You may even find yourself making a pizzaburger, a barbequeburger, a baconburger, a potatoburger, or even a porkchopbeefstakham and eggiverandbaconburger. Good luck.

"Rare and Well Done" is one of the many delightful books of information that were published in the closing months of 1966.

ONE of the most informative of these is Margaret Anderson's "The Children of the South."

In it Miss Anderson, who is a teacher and a guidance counselor at the high school at Clinton, Tenn., discusses the effects of racial integration upon school children.

she pictures the sometimes futile efforts of the Negro children to overcome their social heritage even when given every opportunity offered by the school.

Miss Anderson believes that the Southern Negro is better off than his cousins who have migrated to the north.

"THE SOUTH is his home," she writes.

"His roots are here. He is part of the green hills and the black earth, the fabulous and leisurely living, the bloodshed of the old days and a part of the machines and the industries of the new world."

"I have faith that in a few more days' his homeland will be a better place. By facing our problems on home ground rather than running away from them or transferring them to another section of the country, we not only help the nation as a whole, but we bring stature to the South."

While many readers will not agree with the things Miss Anderson writes, they will find her book provocative.

"The Life of the Forest" by Jack McCormick is the latest volume in a series known as Our Living World of Nature.

IT IS a beautiful volume with over 100 colored photographs. Throughout the book the author describes the vital interplay between plants, animals, soil, air and sun that makes life possible. He describes the impact of the changing seasons on the conduct of plants and animals.

The large appendix makes the book more useful. In it one finds discussions of the National Forest System, the country's outstanding forests. One section pictures animal tracks. Another points to those animals that are in danger of extinction. At the end is a glossary that is useful.

SLEEPORAMA AT PALACE? — Every April for the past 20 years more than 1,600 Junior Grand National Livestock Exposition entrants invade Daly City's Cow Palace. The exhibitors (and some instructors) sleep in the make-shift dormitory during the famed week-long exhibit.

'Person of the Year' Award to Tom Teshara

Tom Teshara, founder of "Pewee League" baseball that introduces hundreds of 7-to-11-year-olds into the great American pastime, has been named "Person of the Year" by South San Francisco Council 32 of the Young Men's Institute.

The award will be presented March 12 at a breakfast meeting of the fraternal organization of Catholic men. It was announced Monday night by award chairman Harry Parks at St. Veronica's School hall where about 400 parents and youngsters gathered for "Tom Teshara Night."

TESHARA, 39, general manager of Sun Valley Dairy, San Francisco, lives at 500 Lassen Street, South San Francisco, with his wife, Jeannine, son, Stephen, 16, and daughter, Debra, 13.

The YMI award is made each year to an outstanding citizen of the community.

The organized program for baseball beginners which Teshara started in 1960 has developed into a nationally chartered league with the youngest age-group participants in the U.S.

Scores of athletes now moving up in sports got their start in the local "Pewees" under Teshara.

Teshara also established and directed a large-scale sports program at St. Veronica's School, with inter-school and intramural participation in basketball, baseball, track and other sports.

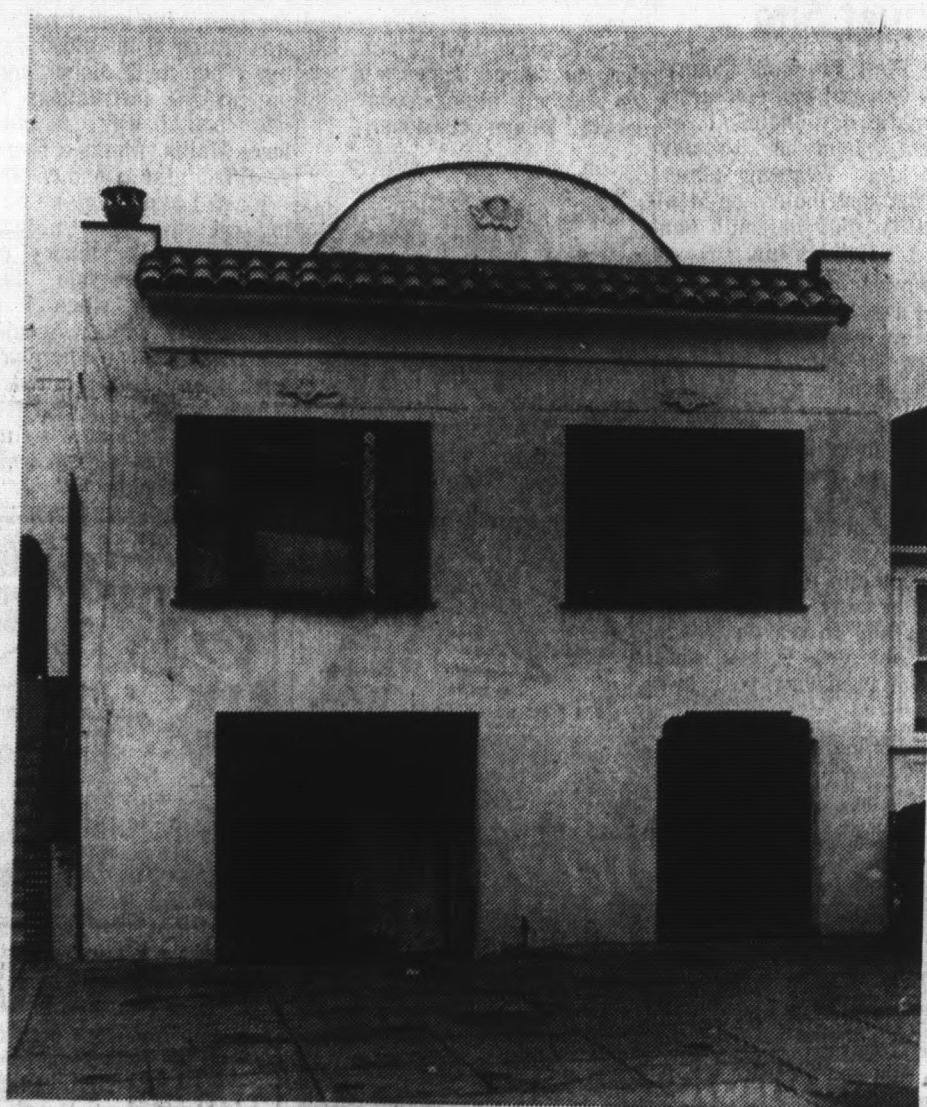

IN JANUARY 1966, he was appointed by the U.S. Naval Academy as unpaid coordinator of its athlete recruiting program in the San Francisco Bay Area. Working with high school athletes, their parents, coaches and counselors, he has already sent one student to the Academy and two others to its prep training school.

Teshara played minor league baseball for two years after his World War II Army service.

He launched the "Pewee

Baseball Training League" under rules carefully drawn up to introduce the younger boys into the discipline and sportsmanship code of organized ball. Adult coaches pitch to their own teams to keep the game moving.

REPAIR OR RAZE—Daly City has ordered the owner of this building at 144 Miriam Street to repair or demolish the fire gutted structure. Unless Edwin F. Michelson of Burlingame, owner of the building, complies with the request immediately the city will raze the home and add demolition costs to the assessment rolls, City Attorney Albert Polonsky said.

Better Business

Government Plays Important Role

Lorene Beasley

"The government should do something about it." "Let the government take over."

Such words are increasingly heard from the man on the street.

Government plays a very important part in the life of most Americans.

Out of one hundred individuals employed in the United States, 20 work either directly or indirectly for the government. Seven per cent of the population of the country receive personal incomes through social security, unemployment and disability payments. American business stands at the crossroads. Which road will it follow — self-regulation and free enterprise or government regulation?

"THE MAJOR cause of the tyranny of the police state in modern times is the adoption of an economic policy which has to rely on coercion rather than on the free enterprise of private citizens," says Karl Brandt, senior research fellow at the Hoover Institution.

There is no doubt that the political power held today by 180 million consumers cannot be overlooked. The consumer has become one big, fat political prize.

Professional consumers are bombarding the government with complaints concerning unfair competition, misleading advertising, shoddy merchandise.

Granted, there are abuses which occur in the marketplace, but intelligent people do not destroy an automobile because the ashtray is full. Over regulation is not an unknown danger in our times.

IT IS the Better Business Bureau's long and recognized services to the buying public in answering its inquiries about the reliability of business firms, in issuing public warnings about frauds and schemes, its educational programs, that places it in a unique position to speak effectively for the integrity of business.

Forget What You Heard Here First

Frank LaPierre

YOU MAY HAVE HEARD it first (last week), but you can forget it. Seems that the Daly City Committee for Ethics in Public Education selected Dorothy Adams and William Mason to run in the April Jeff Elementary battle, but Mason didn't file. He's accepted a position elsewhere out of the community.

And the person (who shall remain nameless at this time) picked by some members of the local group, does not have the backing of all members — notably Attorney Robert Hunter has pulled the chocks out from beneath the group. Hunter says his Screening Committee had little to do with the latest selection.

KUDOS DEPARTMENT — Officer William Martin, a member of San Bruno's finest since last January, showed what Cops are made of. He pulled a tiny four-year-old tot from a stalled car about to get hit by a Southern Pacific train (another grade crossing fatality), threw the child to the ground and covered her with his own body as the train roared past, inches from the pair.

Police brutality? Coldly efficient "fuzz?" That may be what the hoods and punks call 'em. We call people like Martin — MEN.

FLASHY FLASH — According to an article appearing in the latest Daly City-Colma Chamber letter, Joe Rohl and U. R. "Jack" Kendree need only find a spot for a large sign with the inscription "Welcome to Daly City." The sign will also carry the names of all civic organizations in D.C. The pair comprise the Chamber's Sign Committee and have been looking for a suitable site for the past three years.

AS THE DATE NEARS for official ceremonies marking the completion of the new civic center in Daly City, the pace quickens. Tours, invites and other gala celebrations are in the mill.

A recent ordinance was read to the D.C. City Council regarding the civic center: The City Council shall hold regular meetings at the city council chambers located in the city hall at 333 90th Street. Meetings have been held at 75 Wellington Avenue since 1939.

SENIOR CITIZEN applications are rolling into P.O. box 7, South San Francisco, contractor Frank Mammini revealed last week. Mammini is pushing a multi-million dollar senior citizens complex for the South City area "because there is need for such a complex here," he claims. The only way the Federal Government will jump into the deal is after Mammini backs up his "need the complex" claim with solid applications from local citizens.

IN THE SWIM — D. C. Mayor Bud Lyett has appointed councilmen Tony Giammona and Michael DeBernardi to serve on a Swimming Pool Committee.

The committee stems from a recent meeting with Jeff High School District officials concerning the operation of a swimming pool hereabouts.

The pool is costing the district a bundle every year and they (school officials) would be happy to shift the monetary load over to the city.

MAN'S BEST FRIEND — Officer John Van Otten, of the D.C. police department, has some second thoughts about "Man's best friend." Seems he was trying to serve a local resident a warrant the other a.m., when the recipient's "best friend" ran up and bit Van Otten on the thigh. One of the worst dog bites the docs have ever seen, according to a hospital spokesman.

DATES TO REMEMBER — Applications for D.C. beauty queen are rolling in at a moderate rate. The contest, sponsored by the CoC will get off the ground on April 21 (preliminary) with the finals slated for May 4th (at the SSF Elks Club.)

The Marquee

Screen Debut

Barbara Bladen

MEL SHAPIRO'S CONCEPT of "The Cherry Orchard," which opened last week at Stanford University by their professional repertory company, is a unique experiment of the Chekhov comedy but not a viable one. It smacks too loudly of a modern farce and works too hard at being funny.

The first act is shrill and unsure, especially as dominated by Jane Hoffman, who appeared unsure of her lines and undefined in her characterization of Madame Ranevsky. The second act took on a pastoral mood and had a joyous spirit that we traditionally associate with the Russian classic. The third act jelled into a dramatic and cohesive theatrical experience, thanks to the redeeming portrayal of Paul E. Richards as Lopahin. But all in all, there is misgiving and unevenness among the cast.

The production has much that is commendable, notably Richard L. Hay's romantic settings of a nursery overlooking the orchard, a well and bench within the orchard where blossoms gently fell from the rows of blossoming fruit trees and a drawing room setting through which can be seen the ballroom of the doomed mansion.

It is as though the director wanted everyone to be certain that it was a comedy and his cast had to push to get his ideas across. They achieved in making the audience laugh but at the expense of the playwright who certainly doesn't and never has needed to be "jazzed up" to make him palatable.

MISS HOFFMAN STRIVES to be exuberant but in the attempt at irresponsibility (and she is in her extravagant spending, her gay life in Paris and her charity towards strangers when her own family is financially desperate), she takes on a girlish quality that is not enhancing to the play nor identifiable with the Chekhov heroine.

But Gerald Hiken as her ineffectual brother makes up for any lack of style. His controlled appraisal of the inept Leonid is what we expect of the entire family.

Ruth Silveira as the loyal daughter and Astrid Willsrud as the pathetic spinster adopted daughter come close to that ideal. They have a buoyancy of personality that suits their station and social position but they don't go giddy or behave wildly out of context.

The production is too busy. It fairly romps through four acts with three intermissions and concludes on a breathless note. No complaint at length, but the mood, the pathos, the style were diffused.

Richards was difficult to understand in the first two acts, his accent muffled his lines but he gave a forceful uplift to the play when as a drunken celebrant, he announces that a former serf's son has purchased the estate at auction and will divide it up into summer cottages. It is a highlight of the show.

GLENN CANNON AS THE FEEBLE SERVANT Feers does much with a minor role although it was a caricature of a doddering, unappreciated old fool. His being left behind when the family moves out is anti-climatic in view of the buildup.

Gilbert Green as the patrician landowner is grand in a flowing beard and great black coat; Morgan Sterne is properly rebellious as a clerk and Paul E. Winfield makes much of the student's stand on emancipation. Loretta Leversee adds a bright note of gaiety as the governess Ivanovna.

There is abundant energy expelled in this somewhat updated revival of the play too often performed as a tragedy when it is essentially a comedy but Shapiro's concept is too broad and needs toning down.

Fava And Zuchelli Hit Dine Out "Jackpot"

OUT OF THE HABIT of dining out during the week? Then you're in for a pleasant surprise when taking the family any night of the week to Bruno's in downtown San Mateo. Chef and co-owner Bruno Fava is serving "special dinners" every evening for unheard of prices. A popular favorite on Sunday is Roast Leg of Lamb for only $2.95. Whatever your choice, you'll enjoy a full-course repast. It's a dine out "Jackpot" for Bruno Fava and Tom Zuchelli. When the wildly euphoric beat of Mr. Clean and the Uncalled Four fills the air with dance sounds, the Burlingame Syndrome becomes an exploding scene of "standing room only" dance couples. Don't miss the fun here any night of the week. Fabbro's in Redwood City, owned by sports minded Frank Fabbro, is a specially-favored luncheon spot with many of the professional sports stars. Many of the 49'ers dine here regularly.

THE MELODIOUS SOUNDS of the George Cerrutti Trio, now appearing at the popular Villa Lounge, San Mateo, keep the dance floor filled with nimbly moving couples. Opening date of the new upper-level restaurant, where "just steaks" will be served, will soon be announced. Pancho's Mexican Cafe, located at Five Point in Redwood City, continues to delight those who revel in Mexican-style dining. Any way you look at it, "Pancho's Favorite," which consists of an enchilada, rice, refried beans, taco and chile relleno, is a toothsome introduction to the culinary imagination demonstrated here. When Golden Gate Fields in Albany opens Saturday, March 11, you can be sure that Louise and Sil Oliva (he's bossman of the world famed Exposition Fish Grotto on Fisherman's Wharf) will be Turfing a steady path to the pay-off window. Louise is one of the best handicappers in the area, but Sil has his own win system.

THE FANTASTIC GREEK TAVERN DANCES performed by Louis Gundunas at the Balkan Village are raising his clothing and cleaning bills. His clothes take a beating when he lies on the floor to allow a member of the orchestra to stand on his stomach, not to mention the seams that are split when he makes flying jumps and high kicks. Did you know: Joe Cohen, "Mr. Bay Meadows," has been a steady diner at the New Tivoli restaurant in San Francisco's North Beach for more than 40 years? However, because of his busy work schedule, Mr. Cohen's visits haven't been as frequent as in the past. But he never misses a chance to order some of owner Nick Finocchio's famous petit fours, which are served at the restaurant on Saturdays and Sundays only. If you enjoy a hefty meal, take advantage of the Farm Fried Chicken special at Foster's Coffee Shop and Pancake House. Served with salad, relish, whipped potatoes, country gravy, hot biscuits, dessert and beverage, the Farm-Fried chicken is an "All you can eat" package for only $2.35.

"GEORGE 'N' TEDDY GO TO VEGAS"—Everyone's favorite, George 'n' Teddy and The International Five, who started in North Beach five years ago at the world famous Condor, make it big. They open tonight at Caesar's Palace in Las Vegas.

TALENTED BERNIE BURNS is a show stopper at the Palo Alto Cameo Club with his fantastic performance on the harmonica. His ability to play miniature harmonicas concealed in his mouth almost steals the show from the Topless dolls. Although not seating more than 50 guests in the dining room at one time, the commendable Fuji Sukiyaki has to be one of the busiest restaurants of its size in the Bay Area. What a phone-in, take-out business this Japanese restaurant does. It might interest you to know that the menu is written in both English and Japanese, if you'd care to test your ability to translate. One of your Bright Lighter's favorite soup specials is prepared at the J and G restaurant on Fourth Avenue and Claremont, where Chef Joe Selmi is king of the "pots and pans." Italian dinners are house specialties, with Chicken Cacciatore high on the request list.

JULIO ACOSTA, personable maitre d' at Luz Garcia's Sinaloa, makes every evening at the San Francisco cantina a pleasant one. He's the major domo and general mastermind who insures that food, service and entertainment is everything it should be. Ted Ince, the good-looking General Manager of the Oakland Sea Wolf restaurant, has been at the helm of his Jack London Square dining site for many successful years. He has watched Jack London Square grow into one of the most talked-about-dine-out sections in the Bay Area, and can tell interesting yarns of its early beginnings. Located at the foot of Broadway at the water's edge, you can enjoy lunch, dinner or cocktails while taking in a fascinating Marine view of passing ships and small boats pulling water skiers. If driving, there is ample free parking; if boating, a dock is just a few steps from the restaurant.

Emerson Murfee Opens a New Liquor Store

One would think that operating two thriving restaurants, such as the Lanai and the magnificent Villa Chartier, would be quite enough to keep one busy, but Emerson Murfee, the plucky proprietor of these two extraordinary restaurants, has opened a new liquor store—converting its former site into additional banquet space for Villa Chartier party functions. Plenty of parking space for the luncheon and dinner patrons of both restaurants.

Phoned Vince Licata's Italian and seafood restaurant, last eve, for an order of spaghetti and meat balls, and a side of ravioli, to go. Stopped by 15 minutes later to pick it up and, presto, the tasty portions were packed ready to travel. That's an idea for you—if you don't feel up to preparing your own dinner.

Billy De Voe Joins New Finocchio Show

Another newcomer in the entertaining revue of female impersonators at Finocchio's is singer Billy De Voe, who performs ballads with a bounce. De Voe is billed as the "Male Park Avenue Hill Billy," but reaches into the south for his biggest number—a parody on "Deep in the Heart of Texas." This experienced performer has plenty of confidence and establishes a quick rapport with the fans.

Besides the fabulous Carol Doda, The Condor has the first comedy Topless team to appear in North Beach, Diana and Sandy, who recently performed before 4,500 men returning from Vietnam on the Coral Sea Carrier.

Outstanding service and lavish dining facilities have made the International Inn restaurant in South San Francisco, which is headed by General Manager Phil Rauscher, an impeccable place for connoisseurs in eating and drinking.

New hours for Romano's Italian restaurant and cocktail lounge in Pacifica: Daily from 4 p.m.; Sundays from 2 p.m. Enrico, the "king," appears in person for all dining room and cocktail lounge occasions.

Exotic wines, as well as a fine array of domestic vintages, are available at the inviting La Touraine restaurant, which is a landmark for fine French cuisine.

"We cater to the discriminating, who expect only the best in culinary art and service," is the boast of Owners Ernest Lusetti and Maurice Brosier.

Hi-Fi Room South Tuesday and Thursday Appetite Pleasers

Last weekend was action packed for patrons of the Hi-Fi Room South, plush, new lounge in downtown San Mateo owned and managed by Joe Borges and Ben Muniz. Live entertainment is here to stay—and currently in the spotlight on Friday and Saturdays are The Versatiles. The 25 cent, "All you can eat" nights are still scheduled for Tuesday and Thursday evenings, with pizza and tacos being the appetite pleasers.

Old Fashioned Beef Stew This Sunday At the Surf House

When I stopped in the Surf House, last Sunday, for a little talk with Ron Giannotti, the Peninsula's number one "Dapper Dan," the genial host-owner was sitting at his plush bar eating a big steak dinner and giving service instructions to his new cocktail waitress, cute Dolores Mallia, who is a recent arrival from the Island of Malta.

When I asked why he was eating at the bar instead of relaxing in the luxury of the dining room, he said, "See for yourself—Ever since I added the Sunday Dinner Specials to the regular menu, the place has been packed with family trade." This week's special is Old Fashioned Beef Stew—and as Ron says "it's right out of Aunt Jemima's Cookbook."

Theresa and Bud Urban Have Summer Plans

Won't be long before Theresa and Bud Urban, busy co-owners of Scotty's Campbell's restaurant in Redwood City, will pack their summer wardrobe and head back to Wisconsin to open their large summer resort for the expected big tourist crowds. In lieu of their absence from the Scotty Campbell's dining scene, Theresa's sister, Mary Lou, will take over the steak and prime rib duties, a job she performs with a real flare.

Besides being one of the Peninsula's most successful restaurateurs, Dave McSwain, trim co-owner of The Sandbagger in Redwood City, is an experienced golfer. Dave manages to "fore" at the golf course three to four times a week—between steaks.

Phil Lehr has a gourmet touch with the Pepper steak Flambe served at his Steakery in downtown San Francisco. Phil serves it with pineapple ice which refreshes the taste buds and enhances the flavor with each bite.

Corner Cutting In Garden

The Hillsborough Garden Club held the first session of its three session garden symposium entitled "Cutting Corners in Your Garden," at the Fiesta Garden Center. Each of the sessions is open to the public for a fee with the proceeds being donated to the Japanese Tea House in the Japanese Garden in San Mateo's Central Park.

Emily Brown, garden plant expert, opened the session by saying, "We are here to learn how to work in the garden more, not less." She pointed out that only two of the people present had gardeners, the others have yard-men so it is up to the owners to know what needs to be done and how it should be done.

She followed her opening with a list of "Don'ts and Dos." Don't let him spade for he will break feeder roots and turn the good soil under. Don't let him water when the plants look sick, the plants may have too much water already. Do water when the soil needs it. Don't let him prune if he only nips the ends unless you want a topiary garden. Don't let him spray if he can't read English or can't see. If he squints he can't see the number of teaspoons of material recommended. Do your feeding yourself unless you can closely oversee the job.

Have good tools. Trees and shrubs should be watered with a tube that penetrates the soil to six feet. Use a calendar for marking when plants are sprayed and fed. Use a fence in place of a hedge as it doesn't need clipping. Get rid of old plants and plants that need a lot of attention.

THIS LOVELY "Tulip Tree" — Magnolia Soulangeana — is in the front lawn of the Jess Jackson home at 219 Jackling Drive, Hillsborough. The deciduous soulangeana magnolias are best purchased when in flower, since there is such a wide range of flower forms and colors.

Magnolia Tulip Tree Selected As Post Plant of the Week

Manolia soulangeana, more commonly known as the "Tulip Tree," is The Post Plant of the Week. Our picture was taken in the garden of the Jess Jacksons, 916 Jackling Drive, Hillsborough, where this magnolia is used as a specimen plant in the front lawn.

There are many varieties of the deciduous magnolia, the new Sunset Western Garden Book lists 36 in their "Western Plant Encyclopedia. Flower color, size and form vary so much that it is best to buy these plants while they are in flower. Most local nurseries have a good selection on hand at this time of year. Interested homeowners will find some flowers on most of the early and late bloomers while those that flower during the mid-season blooming period will be in full bloom.

Magnolia soulangeana is a hybrid between M. denudata and M. liliflora which was introduced around 1820. As with many man-made plants there are a host of varieties. For the sake of brevity and because the deciduous, shrub-like magnolias respond alike to the same cultural conditions we are lumping the hybrids with the species as they do in most nursery displays. Although nurseries are required to label each plant with its correct botanical name, most home owners are more interested in the color, shape, fragrance and size of the flowers. This is why it is so important to buy the plants in bloom.

Size and age of the plants determine their cost. Some varieties, such as Magnolia stellata and M. liliflora bloom when plants are three to four years old while others, such as Magnolia dawsoniana, take 15 years to bloom. Once, one of these magnolias start blooming they can be depended upon to flower every year. The quality and number of blooms may vary depending upon the location of the plant and the care it receives.

Magnolias find our Peninsula climate much to their liking but the soil needs to be re-made at planting time to make it more suitable to their needs. Choose the planting site carefully as these showy plants are more spectacular when used as free-standing specimens. A lawn planting, such as the Jacksons chose, is ideal. Check the soil for good drainage and dig a really big, comfortable hole, as you can expect the magnolia to carry on for more than one generation and the older it gets the more beautiful and valuable it becomes.

They need moist, rich, well-drained soil slightly on the acid side. This can be achieved by adding plenty of organic matter such as peat moss or one of the commercial soil conditioners.

Be generous with these additives as magnolias don't like the soil about their roots tampered with once they are established. If planted in a lawn, leave a wide circle around the base for watering and to prevent the gardener tramping over the root system when mowing as they do not like the soil compacted around their roots. A melch of humus material or attractive rocks will allow both air and water to reach the roots.

Deep, regular and frequent watering is essential to good growth. A high-nitrogen fertilizer, applied two to three times a year is necessary to keep the leaf color a deep green. Some soils are so deficient in available iron that leaves may show an iron chlorosis but this is easily remedied with an application or two of iron chelate, applied as directed on the label.

Pests are few but aphids and scale do attack some plants but these are easily controlled with one of the new systemic. Slugs and snails can also be a pest but regular applications of bait keep these under control. As for pruning, none is necessary as a rule but if a branch must be cut take it off at the base and paint the wound to prevent bleeding.

Pacific Story Program Is Set

A Spring program of story telling for pre-school children is planned at the Pacifica Libraries.

The schedule is as follows: Pacifica Library, Wednesday 11 a.m., March 8, 15, 22, 29; April 5, 12, 19, 26.

Sanchez Library, Thursdays 11 a.m., March 9, 16, 23, 30; April 6, 13, 20, 27.

Faculty Policy At Jeff High

A new faculty grievance policy urged by the Jefferson High School District Teachers' Association, continues to be studied by trustees in Daly City.

Review of Winton Act rules changes, as recommended by the District Negotiating Council, similarly is continuing.

Norman MacDonald, president of the teachers' unit, said in a news release this week that here there is a "definite need" for a grievance policy.

The association through the negotiating council has presented a proposed "district grievance policy which will direct teachers' grievance through four levels of discussion in order to provide the board with a well-researched case before it is asked to take action.

The four levels are: the school's principal; the district director of personnel; the superintendent; and a three-man review panel whose third member would be an "impartial party."

The proposal further stipulates that the "aggrieved" would be permitted to be accompanied by a grievance committee of colleagues to "help him with his case."

MacDonald said, "It is the intent of the association that this procedure be carried out by all participants in a professional manner to arrive objectively and without reprisals at a satisfactory and amicable solution at the lowest possible level.

The association also has submitted a proposal "to strengthen the negotiating council, the voice of the teacher."

MacDonald's release stated, "We proposed that all organizations use this council, which enjoys the aura of official and legal status by virtue of the Winton Act, the CTA-sponsored law that has opened the door for the California teacher to meet and confer with boards of education."

Three Injured In San Bruno

Three persons were injured this week in an auto crash on Bayshore Freeway in San Bruno.

Highway patrolmen said William E. Rogers, 47, of Palo Alto, a professor at San Francisco State College, stopped his northbound car because of a highway repair project and it was struck from behind by an auto driven by Jesse James Brockman, 23, of Santa Clara.

Taken to Peninsula Hospital for treatment of multiple injuries were Rogers and two passengers in the Brockman car: Rita Maltase, 44, of 1517 Royal Avenue, San Mateo, and Betty Baldwin, 44, of 3710 Madera Way, San Bruno.

Trailer Burns Arson Is Seen

Daly City police suspect arsonists in the weekend burglary-fire of a small camping trailer parked at the end of Lake Merced Boulevard.

Police said the trailer was entered after a rear window was broken out. Expensive fishing reels and related equipment was stolen before the fire was apparently set, using curtains and other inflammable material inside the vehicle.

Damage to the trailer was extensive, a fire department spokesman said.

Educators In St. Veronica Series Talks

The Tuesday evening Lenten series at St. Veronica's church in South San Francisco continued last night with guest speaker, the Rev. Leonard A. Williams, in the school hall.

Encyclicals and a Christian Conscience, speaking on "The science."

The Rev. Williams is a professor of sociology at St. Patrick's seminary in Menlo Park. He is a former teacher and preceptor of studies at Serra high school, San Mateo.

The fifth program in the series, scheduled for March 14, will feature two Bay Area educators. Dr. Paul Nielsen, the superintendent of the South San Francisco Unified School District, and the Rev. Bernard A. Cummins, superintendent of the Catholic Archdiocese of San Francisco schools.

They will discuss the implications of federal aid to private and public education.

Man, Wife Injured In 2-Car Crash

Two persons were injured, one seriously, in a two-car accident at the corner of Eighty-seventh and Sullivan avenues early Sunday morning.

Maurice H. O'Connell, 65, and his wife, Arleen, 47, of Alameda, collided with a car driven by Carolyn R. Cota, 24, 448 Eighty-ninth Avenue, Daly City, shortly after 2 a.m. Sunday.

The O'Connells were both thrown from their car by the force of the impact, police said.

Mrs. O'Connell was treated for minor injuries at Mary's Help Hospital and released, while her husband was placed in the intensive care unit of the hospital with multiple lacerations of the head.

The driver of the other car was not injured.

Christal's Son Dies

San Bruno councilman and Mrs. Neil J. Christal's 8-year-old son, Philip, died last Thursday en route to Peninsula Hospital.

Friends said the child, a student at John Muir School, had been ill for several days and had been absent from school.

Cause of death has not been determined, pending the outcome of an autopsy.

Christal attended a North County Council of Cities' meeting last night at South San Francisco. When he returned home at 11:39 p.m., the child appeared to be resting well, he said.

But at 1:30 a.m. his condition appeared to have worsened, and Christal telephoned police and the hospital. The child was dead upon arrival at the hospital at 2:15 a.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Christal have two other children, a boy and a girl. Another child, a 3-year-old girl, died about two years ago, friends said.

Two Students Win Honors

Two Westmoor High seniors won honorable mention in the University of Santa Clara's High School Mathematics Contest. They were James Reed, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Reed, of 74 Santa Elena, Daly City, and Richard Tosetti, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Tosetti of 879 Southgate, Daly City.

Jim, who compiled the highest score at Westmoor in the 1966 National Math Exam, received a National Science Foundation Grant to study mathematics at U.C. last summer.

Rich Tosetti, a life member of the California Scholarship Federation, is president of the Science Club and one of the Math Club tutors. Last year he received the Chemistry Student of the Year award.
